TWO CENTS

Two Services to Be Held Over Hobart's Remains.

The Public to Have an Opportunity to View the Remains Tomorrow Afternoon-Many Messages of Condolence. Mrs. Hobart Bearing Up Well.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. The body of the late Garrett A. Hobart will not lie by the city authorities, but on Friday afternoon the casket will be open in the library of his home, and for three hours the public may view the face of the late vice president.

The body lies in a handsome casket of oak, the plate bearing this inscription: 1844.

Garrett A. Hobart.

1899. The following official statement was given out at the Hobart residence by Private Secretary Evans:

"The funeral services over the body of the late vice president will be neld as the Church of the Redeemer, Paterson, on Saturday, Nov. 25, at 2:30 p. m.

"Inasmuch as the seating accommodation of the church is entirely inadequate, it will be necessary that seats be reserved for the various national, state and local officials, representatives of the organizations with which Mr. Hobart was connected and intimate personal friends of the family. It is, therefore, impossible to provide for the general public until various officials, representatives and friends have been accommo-

"Previous to the public exercises on Saturday afternoon a brief service will be held at the Hobart mansion only for the family, the president and his cabinet and intimate personal friends.

"On Friday afternoon the body of the vice president will be placed in the library of his home, where the public may have an opportunity to view it. The interment will be, at the convenience of the family, at Cedar Lawn cemetery.

Four companies of regular soldiers from Governor's Island will take part in the funeral ceremony and will probably act as an escort from the late resilence of the vice president to the church. The military will also act as an escort to President McKinley and his party.

A great many messages of condolence were received, including messages from Chief Justice Fuller of the United States supreme court, General Gordon of Savannah, Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, Daniel N. Morgan, formerly treasurer of the United States; United States Senator Carter of Montana, United States Minister Harris at Vienna; the Oregon State Bar association, Mrs. Julia Dent Grant and a number of foreign ministers at Washington.

All of the public buildings in Paterson have been draped, as well as many of the private residences throughout New Jersey.

Dr. Newton, the vice president's physician, filed the certificate of death, giving the cause of death as "dilation of the heart, due to myocarditis."

Up to the present the names of the pallbearers have not been announced. Mr. Hobart two months ago, when he feared something might happen, named six of his most intimate friends in New Jersey, and it is believed that these will act as his pallbearers. Mrs. Hobart is bearing up well under her great trouble, and was able to see a few of her most intimate friends, including Attorney General Griggs and Mrs. Griggs and Rev. Dr. David Magie, who will deliver the funeral oration. The services in the house will probably be conducted by Rev. Dr. Magie of Paterson, Rev. Dr. Hamlin of Washington and the blind chaplain of the senate, Rev. Dr. Milburn. The musical part of the program will be in charge of the Orpheus club of Paterson, and A. Hobart Smock of New York, a relative of the vice president.

It was believed that Mr. Hobart was Worth $2,000,000 or $3,000,000. His life was insured for $350,000.

Treasure on Sunken Spanish Ships.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Nov. 23.—The wreckers working on the sunken Spanish armored cruiser Almirante Oquendo discovered a chest containing $19,000 in Spanish gold. Many thousand dollars' Worth of treasure has been secured. Only a few days ago the wreckers began on the torpedoboat destroyer ruror. they have aiready found a service of heavy silver plate. Experts say the Furor could have been saved. The wrecking operations have proved a source of large returns to the companies, estimated at $500,000.

A BRITISH FLAG

AT HALFMAST.

SOLDIERS ORDERED TO PATERSON English Nation at Embassy Shows Its Respect For the Memory of Hobart-Funeral Details.

WASHINGTON. Nov. 23.—The British jack over the British embassy was at halfmast, as a mark of respect for the late Vice President Hobart. Lord Pauncefote and the members of his staff left their cards at the White House as a further evidence of respect. The in state in the city hall, as was desired halfmasting of the embassy flag attracted considerable attention, and was regarded as an unusual mark of consideration to an American official.

In response to a large number of telegraphic inquiries, the treasury department desires it stated that the offices of all collectors of customs, and collectors of internal revenue, stamp depu ties and other officials will be closed on next Saturday, the day of the funeral of Vice President Hobart.

At the request of Attorney General Griggs, the secretary of war has an rected that 200 regular troops be sent to Paterson, N. J., on the day of the funeral of Vice President Hobart. These troops will be on police duty in the vicinity of and around the residence.

Orders went out from the navy de partment to the commanding officers of the naval stations at home and abroad to observe the formalities indicated in the president's proclamation respecting the deceased official.

The sergeant-at-arms of the senate received notice from the following senators who will attend the funeral, meet ing for that purpose at the Fifth Avenue hotel. New York, on Saturday morning:

Aldrich, Allison, Bacon, Baker, Berry Beveriage, Burrows, Clark of Wyoming, Clark of Montana, Cockrell, Cul berson, Daniel, Depew, Fairbanks, For aker, Foster, Frye, Gallinger, Hale, Hanna, Hansbrough, Harris, Hawley Heitfeld, Hoar, Jones of Arkansas. Jones of Nevada, Kean, Kenney, Kyle, Lindsay, Lodge, McComas, McLaurin. McMillan, Martin, Mason, Penrose, Platt of Connecticut, Proctor, Ross, Scott, Sewell, Spooner, Taliferro, Tillman, Wetmore and Wolcott.

Of the senators so far heard from who cannot attend Messrs. Bate, Hayward, Mallory, Vest and Warren are sick.

The pallbearers selected on the part of the senate are: Senators Sewell, Kean, Frye, Fairbanks, Hanna, McMillan, Cockrell and Daniel. The house pallbearers will be designated by Mrs. Hobart and have not yet been named. The present understanding is that all the members of the United States supreme court, with the possible exception of Justice White, will attend. Mr. White is ill and probably will be compelled to remain in Washington.

Following is a list of the members of the house selected to attend the funeral: Representatives Henderson, Joy, Brosius, Livingston, Meyer, Ball, Kleberg, Rixey, Cushman, Barnham, Boutelle, Robinson, Long, Gillett, Morris, Clark, Mercer, Loudenslager, Gardner, Howell, Salmon, Stewart, Parker, Daly, Fowler, Ketcham, McClellan, Bingham, Sibley, Dalzell, Adams, Brownlow, Alexander, White, Robbins, Davis, Burke, Spalding, Benton, Showalter, Clayton and Skirmishes at Mooi River With Casualties-Boers Said British Tried to Relieve Estcourt From Ladysmith, but Failed-Intercepted Messenger.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Although it is evident that the situation in Natal is again becoming sufficiently alarming, nothing can be officially ascertained to allay public anxiety or the curiosity felt regarding the disposition of the reinforcements recently landed in Durban. The war office dispatches are confined to a mere recital of a few casualties at Mooi river, which confirm the reports of skirmishes there.

One correspondent says that 7,000 Boers are within 25 miles of Howick Falls, near Pietermaritzburg, and that the inhabitants are fleeing to the capi-

General Joubert's plan, apparently, is a daring attempt to defeat the British relieving column from Durban in detail, while still attempting the reduction of Ladysmith. A serious attack on Mooi river camp is now hourly expected, with the object of destroying the bridge at Weston. Should this be accomplished, the Boers would be free to turn their attention to Estcourt, while if it failed, the enemy would retire again on Weenen and rejoin the investing forces around Ladysmith.

PRETORIA, Nov. 23.—The fellowing dispatch was received from the Boer headquarters near Ladysmith:

"The field cornets of the Pretoria commando reported that British gun carriages and some horsemen had been heard moving last night in Ladysmith. Our outposts observed the British endeavoring to sortie toward Lombards kop and Bulwama hill, where our Maxims opened fire. The range was too shelling, which drove the British back. About daybreak the British batteries fired upon our positions. Two Burghers were wounded. "It is supposed that the object of the sorties was to relieve the Estcourt force, who had sent an urgent message to Ladysmith requesting aid. The Burghers captured the messenger, but finally allowed him to proceed.'

It was reported that the Natal police had captured a number of Transvaal dispatch riders

In a recent report General Joubert said: "I am cutting off the retreat of the Estcourt troops to Pietermaritzburg and driving them back on the Tugela

It is also reported that the Boer commander with the forces near Ladysmith has "comprehensively surveyed the different points from which the fall of Ladysmith can be insured."

General Snyman, who was outside Markeking, reported heavy fighting Monday afternoon. The British briskly fired on the French cannon and Boer forts. The Boers replied, bombarding the British forts with good effect.

She Was Locked Up In the Government Training School to Enforce the Indian Agent's Order to Go to School-She Is a Brave's Wife-Court Acts.

DES MOINES, Nov. 23.—Four hundred "redskins" at the Sac and Fox Indian reservation, in Tama county, are ready to start on the warpath with rifle and tomahawk.

I. E. Wilcox of Montour was in consultation with Judge Oliver P. Shiras of the federal court here, and said that it was only because of his personal intercession that the Indians had been prevented from making a personal sssault on the people of Tama county and Toledo to avenge themselves for alleged wrongs inflicted by the Indian agent.

Wilcox finally arranged with Judge Shiras to go to Cedar Rapids and there file a petition for habeas corpus for the release of an Indian girl, aged 18, confined in the government Indian training school at Toledo for a month. Wilcox returned to his home, assuring the officials that he will be able to control the Indians as long as the courts have the controversy in hand.

The woman in the case in Lelah-Puch-Ka-Chee, and she is married, according to Indian rites. Her husband is Ta-ta-pi-cha. They were married when she was 17.

When the government training school was established at Toledo, the Indian agent, W. G. Malin, sent out an order for all Indian children under 18 to enroll in the school. The Indians refused and hid their children. The girl in question was finally captured and locked up in the school.

ATTEMPTED JURY BRIBERY.

Three Men Arrested on Charge In Ingham and Newitt Case.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23. - Charged with attempting to influence the jury in the conspiracy and bribery cases against former United States District Attorney Ellery P. Ingham and Harvey K. Newitt, three men were arrested by secret service operatives. Their names are Thomas O'Dea, Harry J. Fairbanks and George W. Peifer, all of this city.

They were arraigned before United States Commissioner Edmunds. They expressed a desire to consult counsel, and were committed in default of $5,000 bail each for a further hearing next Friday afternoon.

The overt act, United States District Attorney Beck said, consisted in the fact that on Saturday, Oct. 14, two of the three defendants had approached the brother-in-law of one of the Ingham and Newitt jurors with the request that he influence the juror to vote aginst conviction. The juror was to receive $500 and the brother-in-law $400. The district attorney asserted that other attempts were made to bribe not only the juror in question, but others.

Pennsylvania Pardon Board.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 23.-Among the pardons recommended by the board of pardons were these: George Bauer, Allegheny, embezzlement; Joseph Biersch, Allegheny, burglary. Among the pardons refused were these: Eli Cady, Washington, rape; Peter McCarthy, Mercer, burglary; Hartman Coleman, Allegheny, embezzlement; James Kenny, Allegheny, burglary. A rehearing was granted in the case of James McKee, Erie, assault, and refused in the case of Frank Qualla, Westmoreland, rape.

Cuban Gratitude (?).

HAVANA, Nov. 23.—General Collazo, in an editorial in The Cubano, said in part: "We are only waiting for the decision of the United States congress, upon which depends the decision that Cuba herself will reach. If the language of the Americans is not clear, the horizon of Cuba will darken with tremendous protests, which will rise from all parts of the island. Cubans are resolved. Their words must not be taken as mere boastings. They will not abandon a solitary right."

She Was Locked Up In the Government Training School to Enforce the Indian Agent's Order to Go to School-She Is a Brave's Wife-Court Acts.

DES MOINES, Nov. 23 .- Four hundred "redskins" at the Sac and Fox Indian reservation, in Tama county, are ready to start on the warpath with rifle and tomahawk.

I. E. Wilcox of Montour was in consultation with Judge Oliver P. Shiras of the federal court here, and said that it was only because of his personal intercession that the Indians had been prevented from making a personal sssault on the people of Tama county and Toledo to avenge themselves for alleged wrongs inflicted by the Indian agent.

Wilcox finally arranged with Judge Shiras to go to Cedar Rapids and there file a petition for habeas corpus for the release of an Indian girl, aged 18, confined in the government Indian training school at Toledo for a month. Wilcox returned to his home, assuring the officials that he will be able to control the Indians as long as the courts have the controversy in hand.

ATTEMPTED JURY BRIBERY.

Three Men Arrested on Charge In Ingham and Newitt Case.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23. - Charged with attempting to influence the jury in the conspiracy and bribery cases against former United States District Attorney Ellery P. Ingham and Harvey K. Newitt, three men were arrested by secret service operatives. Their names are Thomas O'Dea, Harry J. Fairbanks and George W. Peifer, all of this city. They were arraigned before United States Commissioner Edmunds. They expressed a desire to consult counsel, and were committed in default of $5,000 bail each for a further hearing next Friday afternoon.

The overt act, United States District Attorney Beck said, consisted in the fact that on Saturday, Oct. 14, two of the three defendants had approached the brother-in-law of one of the Ingham and Newitt jurors with the request that he influence the juror to vote aginst conviction. The juror was to receive $500 and the brother-in-law $400. The district attorney asserted that other attempts were made to bribe not only the juror in question, but others.

15TH YEAR. NO. 142.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., THURSDAY, NOV. 23, 1899.

TWO CENTS

Two Services to Be Held Over Hobart's Remains.

SOLDIERS ORDERED TO PATERSON English Nation at Embassy Shows Its Re-

The Public to Have an Opportunity to View the Remains Tomorrow Afternoon-Many Messages of Condolence. Mrs. Hobart Bearing Up Well.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. The body of the late Garrett A. Hobart will not lie in state in the city hall, as was desired by the city authorities, but on Friday afternoon the casket will be open in the library of his home, and for three hours the public may view the face of the late vice president.

The body lies in a handsome casket of oak, the plate bearing this inscription: 1844.

Garrett A. Hobart. 1899.

The following official statement was given out at the Hobart residence by Private Secretary Evans:

"The funeral services over the body of the late vice president will be held at the Church of the Redeemer, Paterson, on Saturday, Nov. 25, at 2:30 p. m.

"Inasmuch as the seating accommodation of the church is entirely inadequate, it will be necessary that seats be reserved for the various national, state and local officials, representatives of the organizations with which Mr. Hobart was connected and intimate personal friends of the family. It is, therefore, impossible to provide for the general public until various officials, representatives and friends have been accommo-

"Previous to the public exercises on Saturday afternoon a brief service will be held at the Hobart mansion only for the family, the president and his cabinet and intimate personal friends.

"On Friday afternoon the body of the vice president will be placed in the library of his home, where the public may have an opportunity to view it. The interment will be, at the convenience of the family, at Cedar Lawn cemetery.

Four companies of regular soldiers from Governor's Island will take part in the funeral ceremony and will probably act as an escort from the late residence of the vice president to the church. The military will also act as an escort to President McKinley and his party.

A great many messages of condolence were received, including messages from Chief Justice Fuller of the United States supreme court, General Gordon of Savannah, Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, Daniel N. Morgan, formerly treasurer of the United States; United States Senator Carter of Montana, United States Minister Harris at Vienna; the Oregon State Bar association, foreign ministers at Washington.

All of the public buildings in Paterson have been draped, as well as many of the private residences throughout New Jersey.

Dr. Newton, the vice president's physician, filed the certificate of death, giving the cause of death as "dilation of the heart, due to myocarditis."

Up to the present the names of the pallbearers have not been announced. Mr. Hobart two months ago, when he feared something might happen, named six of his most intimate friends in New Jersey, and it is believed that these will act as his pallbearers. Mrs. Hobart is bearing up well under her great trouble, and was able to see a few of her most intimate friends, including Attorney General Griggs and Mrs. Griggs and Rev. Dr. David Magie, who will deliver the funeral oration. The services in the house will probably be conducted by Rev. Dr. Magie of Paterson, Rev. Dr. Hamlin of Washington and the blind chaplain of the senate, Rev. Dr. Milburn. The musical part of the program will be in charge of the Orpheus club of Paterson, and A. Hobart Smock of New York, a relative of the vice president.

It was believed that Mr. Hobart was Worth $2,000,000 or $3,000,000. His life was insured for $350,000.

Treasure on Sunken Spanish Ships.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Nov. 23.—The wreckers working on the sunken Spanish armored cruiser Almirante Oquendo discovered a chest containing $19,000 in Spanish gold. Many thousand dollars' Worth of treasure has been secured. Only a few days ago the wreckers began on the torpedopoat destroyer ruror. They have already found a service of heavy silver plate. Experts say the Furor could have been saved. The wrecking operations have proved a source of large returns to the companies, estimated at $500,000.

A BRITISH FLAG

AT HALFMAST.

spect For the Memory of Hobart-Funeral Details.

WASHINGTON. Nov. 23.—The British jack over the British embassy was at halfmast, as a mark of respect for the late Vice President Hobart. Lord Pauncefote and the members of his staff left their cards at the White House as a further evidence of respect. The halfmasting of the embassy flag attracted considerable attention, and was regarded as an unusual mark of consideration to an American official.

In response to a large number of telegraphic inquiries, the treasury department desires it stated that the offices of all collectors of customs, and collectors of internal revenue, stamp depu-ties and other officials will be closed on next Saturday, the day of the funeral of Vice President Hobart.

At the request of Attorney General Griggs, the secretary of war has arrected that 200 regular troops be sent to Paterson, N. J., on the day of the funeral of Vice President Hobart. These troops will be on police duty in the viciuity of and around the residence.

Orders went out from the navy department to the commanding officers of the naval stations at home and abroad to observe the formalities indicated in the president's proclamation respecting the deceased official.

The sergeant-at-arms of the senate received notice from the following senators who will attend the funeral, meet ing for that purpose at the Fifth Avenue hotel, New York, on Saturday morning:

Aldrich, Allison, Bacon, Baker, Berry. Beveridge, Burrows, Clark of Wyoming, Clark of Montana, Cockrell, Cutberson, Daniel, Depew, Fairbanks, Foraker, Foster, Frye, Gallinger, Hale, Hanna, Hansbrough, Harris, Hawley, Heitfeld, Hoar, Jones of Arkansas. Jones of Nevada, Kean, Kenney, Kyle, Lindsay, Lodge, McComas, McLaurin. McMillan, Martin, Mason, Penrose, Platt of Connecticut, Proctor, Ross, Scott, Sewell, Spooner, Taliferro, Tillman, Wetmore and Wolcott. Of the senators so far heard from who cannot attend Messrs. Bate. Hayward, Mallory, Vest and Warren are sick.

The pallbearers selected on the part of the senate are: Senators Sewell, Kean, Frye, Fairbanks, Hanna, McMillan, Cockrell and Daniel. The house pallbearers will be designated by Mrs. Hobart and have not yet been named.

the members of the United States supreme court, with the possible exception of Justice White, will attend. Mr. White is ill and probably will be compelled to remain in Washington.

Following is a list of the members of Mrs. Julia Dent Grant and a number of the house selected to attend the funeral: Representatives Henderson, Joy, Brosius, Livingston, Meyer, Ball, Kleberg, Kixey, Cushman, Barnham, Boutelle, Robinson, Long, Gillett, Morris, Clark, Mercer, Loudenslager, Gardner, Howell, Salmon, Stewart, Parker, Daly, Fowler, Ketcham, McClellan, Bingham, Sibley, Dalzell, Adams, Brownlow, Alexander, White, Robbins, Davis, Burke, Spalding, Benton, Showalter, Clayton and

Orders were sent to General Otis in the Philippines and General Brooke in Cuba and General Davis in Porto Rico to have flags at all garrisons half masted on Saturday, the day of the funeral of Vice President Hobart.

Hanna to Be a Pallbeazer.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 23.—Senator Hanna received a request from Mrs. Hobart by telegraph that he be one of the active pallbearers at the funeral of the vice president. He immediately wired his ecquiesence.

Long Wants 18 New Ships.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.-Secretary Long will recommend to congress a program for new naval construction which will be in accordance with the policy that has been pursued for the past three years. Skirmishes at Mooi River With Casualties-Boers Said British Tried to Relieve Estcourt From Ladysmith, but Failed-Intercepted Messenger.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Although it is evident that the situation in Natal is again becoming sufficiently alarming, nothing can be officially ascertained to allay public anxiety or the curiosity felt regarding the disposition of the reinforcements recently landed in Durban. The war office dispatches are confined to a mere recital of a few casualties at Mooi river, which confirm the reports of skirmishes there.

One correspondent says that 7,000 Boers are within 25 miles of Howick Falls, near Pietermaritzburg, and that the inhabitants are fleeing to the capi

A serious attack on Mooi river camp is now hourly expected, with the object of destroying the bridge at Weston. Should this be accomplished, the Boers would be free to turn their attention to Estcourt, while if it failed, the enemy would retire again on Weenen and rejoin the investing forces around Ladysmith.

PRETORIA, Nov. 23.—The fellowing dispatch was received from the Boer headquarters near Ladysmith:

"The field cornets of the Pretoria commando reported that British gun carriages and some horsemen had been heard moving last night in Ladysmith. Our outposts observed the British endeavoring to sortie toward Lombards kop and Bulwama hill, where our Maxims opened fire. The range was too great and, therefore our artillery began shelling, which drove the British back. About daybreak the British batteries fired upon our positions. Two Burghers were wounded.

Migrating Birds.

The distances over which birds migrate vary between wide limits and are often surprisingly great. The bobolinks, which rear their young on the shores of Lake Winnipeg and go to Cuba and Porto Rico to spend the winter, twice traverse a distance exceeding 2,800 miles, or more than a fifth of the circumference of our earth, each year. The kingbird lays its eggs as far north as the fifty-seventh degree of latitude and is found in the winter in South America. The biennial pilgrimages of the little redstart exceed 3,000 miles and the tiny humming bird 2,000.

A FILL ON BRADSHAW AVENUE

From Ten to Twenty-two Feet and That Thoroughfare Is Now In Good Condition. A Description of How the New Reservoir Will be Arranged When Completed.

Few people in the city have an idea of the magnitude of the work being done by the water works department at the new reservoir.

Should the weather remain good this fall and there is an early spring the excavating should be completed by April 1. Out of the hole has been taken enough sand to be used in making cement, and there is also a large pile of clay reserved to be used for puddle. The dirt that has been taken from the hole has been hauled on Bradshaw avenue and a fill of from 10 to 22 feet has been made putting the valley in splendid condition and enhancing the value of property in that vicinity at least $100 to the lot. Bradshaw avenue will be a nice street when the department gets through with it and the city will be saved at least $2,000, as they would have been compelled to make the fill in a few

The excavation is now so deep that it would be impossible for teams to hau 1 the wagons out, so an engine has been brought into service and a cable is attached to the pole of the wagons and they are drawn out of the hole without much effort.

> The filter plant will be located in the gravel and sand will be used. The filter bed will consist of a series of perforated pipe and the high service pressure will be connected with it so that it can be cleaned out at any time. It will be so arranged that the cleanings will pass through the washout and back into the river. It is an excellant arrangement and could not be better.

The water will be pumped into the filter and from there will flow into the new reservoir and thence into the old reservoir and then into the mains. Connections will be made so that the water can be turned into the mains from the new reservoir also, so that either reservoir can be used while the other is being cleaned or repairs are be-

Plenty of Water.

After the new reservoir has been completed there will be enough water to last the city for a week and the pumps can be shut down in case of floods, dirty water or while wickets at Davis island dam are being raised or for any other cause. There will be no change at the pump house with the exception that some of the night pumping may be done away with.

Doctor Probst, secretary of the state board of health was notified, but is unable to come here before next week. He gave Health Officer Ogden instructions to keep up the quarantine and stated that the action he had taken in the matter was correct.

It is thought that the boy, Roy Thompson, is suffering with the chicken pox.

A disease has made its appearance in Pittsburg that closely resembles smallpox but there is a diversity of opinion as to what it really is and it is thought that Putnam may be suffering from this complaint.

There is no cause for alarm on the part of any person as there is no danger that the disease will spread even if it is smallpox.

THE LIBRARY BOARD.

The State Law Provides That it Shall Consist of Six Members.

There has been a great deal of discussion about the appointment of a library commission by the council. It was the intention to have the board consist of 11 members but this question is not left to the council as there is a law on the subject. Section 4002, subdivision 40 of the Revised Statutes of Ohio provides that in all cities having a population of less than 30,000 the library board shall consist of feet deep. It will hold between 7,000,000 six members and not more than one member of council shall be a member of the board. It also says that two memabout the case of J. M. NICE COUNTERFEIT.

The Bagley Company Pick Up a Very Neat Counterfeit.

The Bagley Co., Second street, can testify that there is a very neat counterfeit ten cent piece in the market. The dime in question passed through a number of hands without detection and was finally taken to the bank for deposit. In some manner it had become a very little bent, and an astute and observant clerk placed it between his teeth and closed his molars forcibly on the "ten center," when it snapped, clean cut, like so much glass, evidently possessing qualities which the coiner desired to cause it to have a merry "ring." Migrating Birds.

The distances over which birds migrate vary between wide limits and are often surprisingly great. The bobolinks, which rear their young on the shores of Lake Winnipeg and go to Cuba and Porto Rico to spend the winter, twice traverse a distance exceeding 2,800 miles, or more than a fifth of the circumference of our earth, each year. The kingbird lays its eggs as far north as the fifty-seventh degree of latitude and is found in the winter in South America. The biennial pilgrimages of the little redstart exceed 3,000 miles and the tiny humming bird 2,000.

From Ten to Twenty-two Feet and That Thoroughfare Is Now In Good Condition. A Description of How the New Reservoir Will be Arranged When Completed.

Few people in the city have an idea of the magnitude of the work being done by the water works department at the new reservoir.

Should the weather remain good this fall and there is an early spring the excavating should be completed by April 1. Out of the hole has been taken enough sand to be used in making cement, and there is also a large pile of clay reserved to be used for puddle. The dirt that has been taken from the hole has been hauled on Bradshaw avenue and a fill of from 10 to 22 feet has been made putting the valley in splendid condition and enhancing the value of property in that vicinity at least $100 to the lot. Bradshaw avenue will be a nice street when the department gets through with it and the city will be saved at least $2,000, as they would have been compelled to make the fill in a few will be 140x275 feet and the excavation will be 27 feet deep before it is lined, but the lining will take up about two feet. making the reservoir when completed 25 and 8,000,000 gallons of water.

The filter plant will be located in the southeast corner of the reservoir and gravel and sand will be used. The filter bed will consist of a series of perforated pipe and the high service pressure will be connected with it so that it can be cleaned out at any time. It will be so arranged that the cleanings will pass through the washout and back into the river. It is an excellant arrangement and could not be better.

The water will be pumped into the filter and from there will flow into the new reservoir and thence into the old reservoir and then into the mains. Connections will be made so that the water can be turned into the mains from the new reservoir also, so that either reservoir can be used while the other is being cleaned or repairs are being made.

Plenty of Water.

After the new reservoir has been completed there will be enough water to last the city for a week and the pumps can be shut down in case of floods, dirty water or while wickets at Davis island dam are being raised or for any other cause. There will be no change at the pump house with the exception that some of the night pumping may be done away with.

TO DELIVER 'THE MACHINERY Pa., was in the city yesterday.

Hunters Encounter Trouble While Passing Through Chester-Breaks Occurred In All the Steam Shovels Yesterday. Literary Society Meeting.

Unless trains are running on the Bijou Cumberland extension by the first of the year it is likely all work at the mill will be suspended. The force of workmen at the mill has been reduced on account of the non-arrival of materials, and it is said more men will be laid off on this account. Yesterday breaks occarred on every steam shovel working on the extension and the excavating is being done very slowly. The contractors are now filling in the river bank opposite Walker and until this is finished no rails will be laid.

TO EXTEND THE LINE.

Railway Company Will Build an Extension Soon.

It has been stated upon authority that the Chester street railway company will build an extension to its line to the land owned by the pottery syndicate. This work will not be done until the new bridge over Marks run is completed. It is the intention of the land promoters of the South Side company to build many houses early in the year and the extending of the line is made necessary.

GRADING STREETS.

Contractor Seevers Will Complete Several Streets Next Week

Contractor Archie Seevers stated last evening he would finish the grading of two streets early next week on the property of the mill company and he then expected to start grading on the plat east of the mill. The gravel used in making the roadbed of the streets graded so far has been taken from the West part of the Rock Spring hill.

WHEN you want ALL the news in a clean and reliable manner, you get it in the NEWS REVIEW. This is the opinion of the public at large.

THE POTTERY TARIFF.

Elsewhere in this issue is answered a query from a correspondent regarding the tariff on earthenware under recent tariff legislation. A glance at the figures shows very plainly what a factor sound protective legislation has been to the staple industry of this city. Is it any wonder East Liverpool is a Republican city in view of such a showing?

ASK AN AMENDMENT.

The state association of county auditors proposes to ask the legislature to take radical action on the question of money taxation. At present the auditors estimate that less than ten per cent of all the money in the state is listed for taxation. They want the legislature to submit to a vote of the peoconstitutional amendment providing for the exemption of all money from taxation and reducing the the benefits money will receive from such an exemption.

OUGHT TO KNOW.

W. J. Ghent, manager of Mayor Jones' campaign for governor, has written to the Toledo Blade, repudiating most emphatically the Democratic assertion that the 107,000 votes cast for Jones were against the expansion policy of the administration. He says the only two Jones speakers who opposed expansion lost Jones votes. This declaration is interesting in view of the McLean claim that the vote of McLean and Jonee together show a majority of Ohioans voted against the policy of the administration. Ghent ought to know how his voters stood, better than McLean.

NEXT YEAR

As next year is the presidential one, the Republican and Democratic state conventions will likely both be held earlier than usual, perhaps in March or April. The ticket to be nominated in 1900 in Ohio is small and will be a secretary of state, supreme court judge, dairy and food commissioner and member of the board of public works. The Republicans will naturally be auxious for an early convention to set the pace for the other states in the interest of President McKinley's renomination, and as John R. McLean will be a candidate for the Democratic vice-presidential nomination he will be equally anxious to whoop up his candidacy by an early endorsement from the Ohio Democracy.

Pobert Drabble Passed Away Yesterday

AT THE HOME OF HIS DAUGHTER

He Had Been Suffering From Neuralgia of the Heart, but was Up Yesterday Morning and Was Feeling a Great Deal Better When He Went to Bed.

Robert Drabble was found dead in bed yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Nellie Allen, West Market street.

Deceased had an attack of neuralgia of the heart last Saturday and for a short time it was thought he was dead. He rallied, however, M. G. Ruble; Center, John M. Elliott and seemed to be much improved. Yesterday morning he got up and was around in the house until 11 o'clock when he went to bed. When his daughter went to call him at 12:30 o'clock she discovered that he was dead, A physician was sent for who said that he had probably been dead for 10 minntes when his daughter found him and his death was due to another attack of neuralgia.

Deceased was aged 62 years and leaves a family of five girls and one boy. He was one of the oldest residents of the city and was well known here, having resided on Fifth street for a number of years. At the time of his death he was making his home with his daughter, Mrs. Nellie Allen, West Market street.

The funeral will take place Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Aloysius church. Interment in the Catholic cemetery.

REMOVE YOUR HATS.

Evangelist Smith Had a Talk With the Ladies Last Night.

Say, readers, Evangelist Smith made a happy hit last night when he voiced

"Ladies, I have a request from someone, and it is a double decker, or wears two horns of a dilemma. The request is that I shall take a position on the upper platform, or else ask the ladies to remove their hats, in order that the view from the rear may be unobstructed. I won't ask you to take off your hats; but what answer will you make to the request of one of your own number?"

Hats came off all over the house and the transformation was wonderful, and it was a source of pleasure to many persons in the house to be relieved from the mountains of hats and feathers which had obstructed the view a moment before. Several selfish and possibly bald-headed women remained stubborn and defiantly tossed their plumes in mid-air. They are to be pitied and may possibly be converted from the error of their way. The speaker raised a hearty response of laughter by remarking, after the headgear came off:

"Well, ladies, I must remark that you are much more handsome with THEM hats off."

The meetings are growing in interest. The evangelist makes very many things clear which were dim and dark and troublesome. He obtains his information direct from the word of God, and the explanations are clear and direct and heart and brain satisfying. The apparent secret of this man's success is his absolute dependence upon the Master, and his earnest searching of the scriptures.

The meetings in the afternoon are very helpful and have proved a source was adjudged insane and application of deep delight and comfort to more than one burdened soul. Attend them, if you need and are seeking help.

You have a very earnest invitation to attend the night meetings, commencing at 7:30. You will receive a heart wel. come. The evangelist will remain here for the present week. A grand rally will take place on next Saturday after. noon, at 2 o'clock. Services will be addressed by him on Sunday next, morning and evening.

THE POTTERY TARIFF.

Elsewhere in this issue is answered a query from a correspondent regarding the tariff on earthenware under recent tariff legislation. A glance at the figures shows very plainly what a factor sound protective legislation has been to the staple industry of this city. Is it any wonder East Liverpool is a Republican city in view of such a showing?

ASK AN AMENDMENT.

The state association of county auditors proposes to ask the legislature to take radical action on the question of money taxation. At present the auditors estimate that less than ten per cent of all the money in the state is listed for taxation. They want the legislature to submit to a vote of the peoconstitutional amendment providing for the exemption of all money from taxation and reducing the legal rates of interest in proportion to man on the spot, to judge of the situa- render unnecessary the expenditure of about the following: the benefits money will receive from such an exemption.

OUGHT TO KNOW.

W. J. Ghent, manager of Mayor Jones campaign for governor, has written to the Toledo Blade, repudiating most emphatically the Democratic assertion that the 107,000 votes cast for Jones were against the expansion policy of the administration. He says the only two Jones speakers who opposed expansion lost Jones votes. This declaration is interesting in view of the McLean claim that the vote of McLean and Jonee together show a majority of Ohioans voted against the policy of the administration. Ghent ought to know how his voters stood, better than McLean.

Pobert Drabble Passed Away Yesterday

AT THE HOME OF HIS DAUGHTER

He Had Been Suffering From Neuralgia of the Heart, but was Up Yesterday Morning and Was Feeling a Great Deal Better When He Went to Bed.

Robert Drabble was found dead in bed yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Nellie Allen, West Market street.

Deceased had an attack of neuralgia of the heart last Saturday and for a short time it was thought he was dead. He rallied, however, and seemed to be much improved. Yesterday morning he got up and was around in the house until 11 o'clock when he went to bed. When his daughter went to call him at 12:30 o'clock she discovered that he was dead, A physician was sent for who said that he had probably been dead for 10 minutes when his daughter found him and his death was due to another attack of neuralgia.

Deceased was aged 62 years and leaves a family of five girls and one boy. He was one of the oldest residents of the city and was well known here, having resided on Fifth street for a number of years. At the time of his death he was making his home with his daughter, Mrs. Nellie Allen, West Market street.

The funeral will take place Saturday Mulvehill's Debts Were About morning at 9 o'clock from St. Aloysius church. Interment in the Catholic cemetery.

REMOVE YOUR HATS.

Evangelist Smith Had a Talk With the Ladies Last Night.

Say, readers, Evangelist Smith made a happy hit last night when he voiced

"Ladies, I have a request from someone, and it is a double decker, or wears two horns of a dilemma. The request is that I shall take a position on the upper platform, or else ask the ladies to remove their hats, in order that the view from the rear may be unobstructed. won't ask you to take off your hats; but what answer will you make to the request of one of your own number?"

Hats came off all over the house and the transformation was wonderful, and it was a source of pleasure to many persons in the house to be relieved from the mountains of hats and feathers which had obstructed the view a moment before. Several selfish and possibly bald-headed women remained stubborn and defiantly tossed their plumes in mid-air. They are to be pitied and may possibly be converted from the error of their way. The speaker raised a hearty response of laughter by remarking, after the headgear came off:

"Well, ladies, I must remark that you are much more handsome with THEM hats off."

The meetings are growing in interest. The evangelist makes very many things clear which were dim and dark and troublesome. He obtains his information direct from the word of God, and the explanations are clear and direct and heart and brain satisfying. The apparent secret of this man's success is his absolute dependence upon the Master, and his earnest searching of the scrip-

Feeding Their Dena.

Twice a year, in the first week of April and October, the Chinese feed their dead. They think, very sensibly, that once their friends and relatives leave this mortal coil they ought to stay away from this world, and to prevent their return they faithfully transmit to them all the necessaries of life. It has been discovered by oriental wisdom that the way to transmit servants, songs, plays, books and money is to manufacture them in paper and burn them. But actual eatables must be carried to the grave.

The Chinese are not stingy, and wag on loads of roasted chickens, pigs, ducks, various sweetmeats and fruits are taken to the cemeteries. The food is piled before each grave amid burning red, carrot shaped candles and joss sticks. Then the living prostrate themselves before the dead and beg them to rise up and enjoy themselves. Chinese wines are then sprinkled liberally over the graves, while some graves rereive boxes of cigars and packages of

But you must not suppose that the eatables are left on the graves. Oh. ramps. In about two hours it is believed that the ghosts got the essence of the eatables conveyed to them, and then the devotees gather up the offerings and carry them home again to feed to their own material bodies. But the cigars and cigarettes are burned on the graves.

Directory Fiends.

A man with a grip entered a down town drug store and asked permission to look at the city directory. He was so long about his search that one of the clerks got to watching him, and not without results. The man was apparently looking through the business indexes at the back of the book, and whenever he came to a page be fancied he cut it out with a deft movement, barely detectible. The clerk called the proprietor, and between them they saw him cut no less than five pages from

Then the proprietor beckoned to a policeman just outside the window and went up to his customer.

"Got through with the book?" he

"Yes, quite," was the reply. "Much obliged. Is there any charge?"

"Yes; the usual charge," said the drug store man. "Eight dollars. please.

The man looked at the proprietor, took in the policeman and without a word produced his wad and settled.

"This is not the first time people have mutilated my directory," said the druggist in relating the incident. "but it's the first vandal I caught at it Instead of copying the few names be wants he preferred to cut out whole leaves. Well, he paid for his fun." Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Twice a year, in the first week of April and October, the Chinese feed their dead. They think, very sensibly, that once their friends and relatives leave this mortal coil they ought to stay away from this world, and to prevent their return they faithfully transmit to them all the necessaries of life. It has been discovered by oriental wisdom that the way to transmit servants, songs, plays, books and money is to manufacture them in paper and burn them. But actual eatables must be carried to the grave.

The Chinese are not stingy, and wag on loads of roasted chickens, pigs, ducks, various sweetmeats and fruits are taken to the cemeteries. The food is piled before each grave amid burning red, carrot shaped candles and joss sticks. Then the living prostrate themselves before the dead and beg them to rise up and enjoy themselves. Chinese wines are then sprinkled liberally over the graves, while some graves rereive boxes of cigars and packages of cigarettes.

But you must not suppose that the eatables are left on the graves. Oh, po! That would be throwing too much temptation in the way of beathen tramps. In about two hours it is believed that the ghosts got the essence of the eatables conveyed to them, and then the devotees gather up the offerings and carry them home again to feed to their own material bodies. But the cigars and cigarettes are burned on the graves.

Directory Flends.

A man with a grip entered a down town drug store and asked permission to look at the city directory. He was so long about his search that one of the clerks got to watching him, and not without results. The man was apparently looking through the business indexes at the back of the book, and whenever he came to a page he fancied he cut it out with a deft movement, barely detectible. The clerk called the proprietor, and between them they saw him cut no less than five pages from the book.

Then the proprietor beckoned to a policeman just outside the window and went up to his customer.

"Got through with the book?" he asked.

"Yes, quite," was the reply. "Much obliged. Is there any charge?"

"Yes; the usual charge," said the drug store man. "Eight dollars. please."

The man looked at the proprietor, took in the policeman and without a word produced his wad and settled.

"This is not the first time people have mutilated my directory," said the druggist in relating the incident. "but it's the first vandal I caught at it. Instead of copying the few names he wants he preferred to cut out whole leaves. Well, he paid for his fun."-Cleveland Plain Dealer.

For Domestic Reasons--Department Refuses His Request--Friction With the Transvaal Government Over Requests of British Government for Prisoners' Relief.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 .- [Special] -United States Corsul Macrum at Pre toria has asked the state department for leave of absence, with permission to take advantage of it at once. He pleads domestic reasons for leaving his post and offers to place in the consulate as the representative of the United States Vice Consul Attlebury, who is now on the ground. The department, however, refused to accede to the request and Mr Macrum will stay where he is, unless he sees fit to quit his post without permission.

has not been prohibited by the Boer government from caring for the welfare of the British subjects now in the Trans vaal and the Free State, or at least he has not yet so notified the state department. There has been some friction encountered in the effort of the British government to secure permission for the United States consul to disburse funds for the benefit of the British soldiers held as prisoners of war.

Mr. N. G. Macrum, father of Consul Macrum, stated this morning that the news in the Washington dispatch was the first he had heard of his son's request. The last letter received from him was dated October 6, before the war began.

states that the Chicago Advance was the originator of the word "blizzard" on the 8th of January, 1880. Old timers in South Dakota take exception to the statement. A story is told by the editor of the Hutchinson County Herald, who commenced his newspaper work on the Dakota Republican, at Vermillion, in August, 1867.

The Peake family, Swiss bell ringers. arrived in Vermillion by stage, and William Peake, manager of the bell ringers, said to a party of friends, "I would like to see one of your blizzards I have heard so much about." Mr. True answered: "All right. We will order one for your special benefit and have it here when you come back through here from Yankton."

After showing three nights in Yankton the troupe started homeward to Sioux City, Mr. Peake being on the outside of the stage with the driver. The morning was warm and balmy. Mr. Peake was astonished at the actions of the driver, who suddenly whipped up, and asked what the matter was. T. C. Williams, who was driving, answered that he was afraid Mr. True's order was going to be a little ahead of time. "Look to the northwest," said he. There was the blizzard approaching in all its fury. In almost a minute the blinding snow was being whirled through the air, and Mr. Peake withdrew to the inner part of the stage. It was one of the most terrific storms known to the territory, which is saying considerable. The Peake troupe was compelled to wait several days at Vermillion until Mr. True's blizzard had blown itself out.-Sioux Falls Argus.

READ THE BIBLE 11 TIMES.

Began From Curiosity and Continued Through Interest.

A stout, elderly man was noticed gazing earnestly at a display of "Bibles in all languages" in a show window. A stroller passing halted to see what this man was gazing at and remarked that there was a fine assortment of Bi-

"Yes," said the man, "but I have one at home older and bigger than any of them." There did not seem to be any connection between the age and size of a Bible, so for lack of anything further to say the stroller asked the man if he had ever read his big Bible through.

"Yes," was the reply. "I have read it through 11 times.'

"Holy Moses!" ejaculated the stroller.

"What do you think of the Bible after reading it through so many times?"

"Well, the Bible is all right. I will tell you how I came to read it through the first time. An old circuit rider who used to visit my father's house when I was a boy one Sunday preached a sermon from the text, 'For a man shall be judged according to the deeds done in the body.' I asked him if that text was to be found in the Bible, and he said, 'Of course it is.' I said I did not think it was, and he proposed that we both read the Bible through to find it. We did not find it, but I found so many things which interested me that I kept on reading the Bible till I have gone through it 11 times."-Portland Oregonian.

A Curious Looking Egg.

A shark's egg is one of the most odd looking things imaginable and has no more resemblance to an egg, strictly speaking, than it has to a paving stone. In one variety it is pillow shaped and has a long "horn," or "feeler," at each corner. It is about two inches long and the color almost pure black.

It is unprovided with shell, as we understand that word, but the contents are protected by a thick, leathery covering, which has almost as much elasticity about it as a covering of rubber would have.

The "feelers" mentioned catch hold of and wind themselves around pieces of seaweed and other floating objects and hang until the egg is hatched.

One variety of the shark lays 18 eggs during the month of April. These float about until early in December, when the little sharks emerge.

Eating Like a Bird.

It isn't as polite as it is intended to be to say that a person has the appetite of a bird. If a human being ate as much proportionately as does the average bird, the sight would be disgusting. In one shrike there have been found the remains of 79 caterpillars, 24 bugs, one field mouse and one leech. A in onlons."-Chicago News.

He Was "Swiped."

He sat in the reading room of a Chicago hotel with a notebook and pencil in his hand, and after wetting the pencil on his tongue a dozen times without writing anything he turned to the man on his left and said:

"I want to get at an expression, but can't think of it. I want something synonymous with avalanche."

"Would landslide do?"

A Complicated Flag.

The Spanish royal standard is most complicated. The red and yellow of the Spanish flag is said to be derived from this occurrence: In 1378 Charles the Bold dipped his fingers in the blood of Geoffrey, count of Barcelona, and drew them down the count's golden shield in token of his appreciation of the latter's bravery. The shield, so marked, became the arms of Barcelona, which became part of Aragon, and its arms were taken by that king-

Now to the royal standard: In the first quarter or upper left hand part of the flag are the arms of Leon and Castile, the lion and the castle; the second quarter is taken up, one-half by the arms of Aragon, one-half by the arms of Sicily. The upper third of the quarter (directly under the first) shows the Austrian colors, the lower two-thirds is divided between the flag of Burgundy and the black lion of Flanders; the upper third of the fourth quarter shows the checkers, another Burgundian device, while the lower two-thirds is shared by the red eagle of Antwerp and the golden lion of Brabant, and on the top of all this are two shields, one showing the Portuguese arms, the other the French fleur-de-lis. Considerable of a flag that!

Got the Watch.

A Camden lawyer put up a bluff successfully not long ago. A client came to him and explained that a young man had bought a watch from him on the installment plan. He made one payment, gave the watch to a young lady and skipped out. The client wanted to know if he could recover the watch from the young lady. The lawyer said that he could not without spending more money than the watch was worth, except the young woman could be bluffed. The client said a bluff would be paid for if successful, and the lawyer posted the following letter:

"Dear Madam-The watch recently presented to you by Mr. Blank was obtained surreptitiously from the establishment of my client, and unless it is returned by next Tuesday morning I will be obliged to, very reluctantly, dispatch a judicial functionary to your residence with process."

The watch was delivered the following morning and the lawyer received a fine gold chain for writing the letter .-Pittsburg Dispatch.

Conquerors Conquered.

It is a remarkable and instructive fact that the career of four of the most renowned characters that ever lived closed with a violent or mournful

Alexander, after looking down from the dizzy beights of his ambition upon a conquered world and weeping that there were no more to conquer, died of intoxication in a scene of debauch, or, as some suppose, by poison mingled in his wine.

Hannibal, whose name carried terror to the heart of Rome itself, after having crossed the Alps and put to flight the armies of the mistress of the world, was driven from his country and died at last of poison administered by his own hands in a foreign land, unlamented and unwept.

Caesar, the conqueror of 800 cities, and his temples bound with chaplets dipped in the blood of a million of his foes, was miserably assassinated by those he considered his nearest friends.

Bonaparte, whose mandate kings and emperors obeyed, after filling the earth with the terror of his name, closed his days in lonely banishment upon a barren rock in the midst of the Atlantic ocean.

Such the four men who may be considered representatives of all whom the world calls great, and such their end-intoxication, or poison, suicide, murdered by friends, lonely exite!

Queer Sights Abroad.

When I was in Aix-les-Bains last summer, I saw a stout German woman sitting at another table eating from an enormous pile of plates. I thought at first she was carving or doing something of that kind, but as the meal progressed and the pile became no less I made inquiry and found out that she was extremely nearsighted, and the pile of plates-exactly 19 in numberwas necessary to raise her food to a point where it would come within her range of vision. She was no less a personage than the Duchess of Sleswick-Holstein.

In Italy they do not use glass in the windows on account of the expense and replace it with wood or other material. In order to relieve the monotony, I suppose, they have a habit of painting household scenes on these blank spaces. In one window you will see an old chap reading his paper and in another a young miss doing up her hair. There are also other scenes of even more intimate family character. which I will leave to your imagination.

In Athens one day I went out to buy something or other, which, I remember, cost 5 drachmae. For it I tendered a 10 drachma note in payment, and in order to make change the storekeeper tore it neatly in two and returned one-half to me. Convenient, wasn't it? but I stated my arguments and clinch--New York Tribune.

Showed Her Teeth.

One of the last things people like to admit usually is that their teeth are not their own in the sense of not having grown in their mouths. A single member from a porcelain factory is not objectionable. The need of it might be caused by an accident or for a good many reasons, but when it comes to several and a plate, then the subject becomes a delicate one.

But there was a woman in the street cars the other day who apparently had a brand new set of teeth and she was strangely proud of them. She first attracted the attention of passengers by the smiles that she lavished upon them indiscriminately. Every smile brought the new teeth into view more prominently and the evidence that they were false and the people began to smile quietly themselves. But even then the woman was not sure that her new treasures were properly observed. and, drawing in her lower lip, she brought her upper teeth down upon it and tapped them carelessly with her finger, looking off into vacancy meanwhile with a conscious air of unconsciousness.-New York Times.

Cured the Curious Youth.

"Pawing over the unclaimed mail is a favorite amusement among a certain set of idle youths," said a hotel clerk yesterday. "'Any letters for So-andso? they will ask, giving an imaginary name, their object being apparently to gratify idle curiosity by studying the superscriptions and reading the postals: Last fall an idiot of that type rehouse. He made the usual request, giving rather a peculiar name, which he afterward admitted he had thought of on the spur of the moment. By a remarkable coincidence two central office detectives were standing near the desk at the time, and the name he gave was Record.

that of a noted crook who was wanted by the police of Chicago very badly.

"Without a word more than was necessary they took the young gentleman by the arm and carried him off to police headquarters. He was so astonished that he was unable to make a coherent explanation and really presented a picture of guilt. His story at headquarters that he had asked for letters under an assumed name was regarded as so improbable that they held him until telegraphic inquiries could be made. Of course it turned out that he was not the Chicago crook, but he got the scare of his life, and you may rest assured that he has dropped that form of amusement from his indulgences."-New York News.

He Wasn't "Soaked."

"When I go over to the old country I am going to get a lot of clothes to bring back with me." said a well known Windsorite, who went abroad

"Oh," said his hearer, "if that is the case, I have a brother who is a tailor in London, and I will give you a letter of introduction and write him telling him to use you right."

In course of time the traveler stepped into the tailor shop in London and presented his letter of introduction. He got a warm handshake from the tailor, who said he had received a letter from his brother telling of the traveler's expected arrival, but could not understand part of the letter. The letter, when produced, read:

"Dear Brother-The bearer, Mr. ---, is from our place and wishes to get a lot of clothes in London. He has all sorts of money. Soak him. Yours affectionately.'

The part of the letter that could not be understood was the concluding phrase. The traveler of course understood the Americanism, but managed to keep his face straight while he gave it a favorable construction. He saved the laugh until he could have it on his American friend. - Chicago Inter

His Plea For Water.

"If there is anything I dislike," remarked Colonel Stilwell, wiping his mustache with impressive deliberation, "it is a bigoted person. Some of the people at my home in Kentucky came very near taking permanent offense at me, but I held out and finally convinced them." "What was the discussion about?"

"It was the old controversy. Somebody mentioned water, and Judge Morgan stated his opinion that it was something that ought to be abolished. Late trains are a source of annoyance to everybody. The British Medical Journal dwells upon the very serious result produced by them upon the health of travelers. The rush to the station to catch the train which may perchance be punctual; the weary wait on drafty platforms or in stuffy waiting rooms; the dilatory journey-all these, we are told, add seriously to the labor of the day even in the best of times, but when the weather is cold and damp they are still more injurious and in that they are largely responsible for those "colds," as they are called, those conditions of depressed vitality which are the starting points of most of the acute diseases from which men suffer and from which the elderly and the feeble die.

Genuine Courtesy.

Surface manners are like cut flowers stuck in a shallow glass with just enough water to keep them fresh an hour or so; but the courtesy that has its growth in the heart is like the rosebush in the garden that no inclement season can kill and no dark day force to forego the unfolding of a bud.

Said to Have Been Used In South Dakota In the Sixties.

well known book of reference states that the Chicago Advance was the originator of the word "blizzard" on the 8th of January, 1880. Old timers in South Dakota take exception to the statement. A story is told by the editor of the Hutchinson County Herald, who commenced his newspaper work on the Dakota Republican, at Vermillion, in August, 1867.

The Peake family, Swiss bell ringers, arrived in Vermillion by stage, and William Peake, manager of the bell ringers, said to a party of friends, "I would like to see one of your blizzards I have heard so much about." Mr. True answered: "All right. We will order one for your special benefit and have it here when you come back through here from Yankton."

After showing three nights in Yankton the troupe started homeward to Sioux City, Mr. Peake being on the outside of the stage with the driver. The morning was warm and balmy. Mr. Peake was astonished at the actions of the driver, who suddenly whipped up, and asked what the matter was. T. C. Williams, who was driving, answered that he was afraid Mr. True's order was going to be a little ahead of time. "Look to the northwest," said he. There was the blizzard approaching in all its fury. In almost a minute the blinding snow was being whirled through the air, and Mr. Peake withdrew to the inner part of the stage. It was one of the most terrific storms known to the territory, which is saying considerable. The Peake troupe was compelled to wait several days at Vermillion until Mr. True's blizzard had blown itself out .-Sioux Falls Argus.

READ THE BIBLE 11 TIMES.

Began From Curiosity and Continued Through Interest.

A stout, elderly man was noticed gazing earnestly at a display of "Bibles in all languages" in a show window. A stroller passing halted to see what this man was gazing at and remarked that there was a fine assortment of Bi-

"Yes," said the man, "but I have one at home older and bigger than any of them." There did not seem to be any connection between the age and size of a Bible, so for lack of anything further to say the stroller asked the man if he had ever read his big Bible through.

"Yes," was the reply. "I have read it through 11 times."

"Holy Moses!" ejaculated the stroller.

"What do you think of the Bible after reading it through so many times?"

"Well, the Bible is all right. I will tell you how I came to read it through the first time. An old circuit rider who used to visit my father's house when I was a boy one Sunday preached a sermon from the text, 'For a man shall be judged according to the deeds done in the body.' I asked him if that text was to be found in the Bible, and he said, 'Of course it is.' I said I did not think it was, and he proposed that we both read the Bible through to find it. We did not find it, but I found so many things which interested me that I kept on reading the Bible till I have gone through it 11 times."-Portland Oregonian.

A Curious Looking Egg.

A shark's egg is one of the most odd looking things imaginable and has no more resemblance to an egg, strictly speaking, than it has to a paving stone. In one variety it is pillow shaped and has a long "horn," or "feeler," at each corner. It is about two inches long and the color almost pure black

It is unprovided with shell, as we understand that word, but the contents are protected by a thick, leathery covering, which has almost as much elasticity about it as a covering of rubber would have.

The "feelers" mentioned catch hold of and wind themselves around pieces of seaweed and other floating objects and hang until the egg is hatched.

One variety of the shark lays 18 eggs during the month of April. These float about until early in December, when the little sharks emerge.

Eating Like a Bird.

It isn't as polite as it is intended to be to say that a person has the appetite of a bird. If a human being ate as much proportionately as does the average bird, the sight would be disgusting. In one shrike there have been found the remains of 79 caterpillars, 24 bugs, one field mouse and one leech. A field hawk that was observed for a month is credited with a record of 1,000 mice in that time. A tame owl ate seven mice, one after the other, and three hours afterward ate four more. The robin eats on an average 14 feet of worms daily.

He Was "Swiped."

He sat in the reading room of a Chicago hotel with a notebook and pencil in his hand, and after wetting the pencil on his tongue a dozen times without writing anything he turned to the man on his left and said:

"I want to get at an expression, but can't think of it. I want something synonymous with avalanche."

"Would landslide do?"

"I've got that."

"In what sense are you going to use

"Well, I'm running for alderman at a special election in my town, and I want to make a memorandum of how it resulted."

"Oh, I see! You could say you were snowed under."

"Yes; but that's hardly strong enough."

"Buried out of sight."

"That's better, but lacks strength."

"How badly were you beaten?" "By over 300, where I ought to have had 450 majority." "Then I should put it that you were literally swiped off the face of the

"That's good-that's the idea. That's strong and euphonious and has rhythm in it. Yes: I was on the ticket and sure of election. I had $500 up that I had a walkover. I was swiped, and there are not enough of my mangled remains left to fill a thimble. Thank you, sirliterally swiped off the face of the earth and be hanged to me!"-Washington Post.

A Complicated Flag.

The Spanish royal standard is most complicated. The red and yellow of the Spanish flag is said to be derived from this occurrence: In 1378 Charles the Bold dipped his fingers in the blood of Geoffrey, count of Barcelona, and drew them down the count's golden shield in token of his appreciation of the latter's bravery. The shield, so marked, became the arms of Barcelona, which became part of Aragon, and its arms were taken by that king-

Now to the royal standard: In the first quarter or upper left hand part of the flag are the arms of Leon and Castile, the lion and the castle; the second quarter is taken up, one-half by the arms of Aragon, one-half by the arms of Sicily. The upper third of the quarter (directly under the first) shows the Austrian colors, the lower two-thirds is divided between the flag of Burgundy and the black lion of Flanders; the upper third of the fourth quarter shows the checkers, another Burgundian device, while the lower two-thirds is shared by the red eagle of Antwerp and the golden lion of Brabant, and on the top of all this are two shields, one showing the Portuguese arms, the other the French fleur-de-lis. Considerable of a flag that!

Got the Watch.

A Camden lawyer put up a bluff successfully not long ago. A client came to him and explained that a young man had bought a watch from him on the installment plan. He made one payment, gave the watch to a young lady and skipped out. The client wanted to know if he could recover the watch from the young lady. The lawyer said that he could not without spending more money than the watch was worth, except the young woman could be bluffed. The client said a bluff would be paid for if successful, and the lawyer posted the following letter:

"Dear Madam-The watch recently presented to you by Mr. Blank was obtained surreptitiously from the establishment of my client, and unless it is returned by next Tuesday morning I will be obliged to, very reluctantly, dispatch a judicial functionary to your residence with process."

The watch was delivered the following morning and the lawyer received a fine gold chain for writing the letter .-Pittsburg Dispatch.

Made Him Weep. "Yes," said the rustic editor, "when my first subscription came in it brought tears to my eyes."

"Ah, I see," said the caller, "success after so many failures brought emotions that could not be restrained."

"No, it wasn't that, mister; it was because the first subscriber paid his bill in onions."-Chicago News.

Conquerors Conquered.

It is a remarkable and instructive fact that the career of four of the most renowned characters that ever lived closed with a violent or mournful

Alexander, after looking down from the dizzy heights of his ambition upon a conquered world and weeping that there were no more to conquer, died of intoxication in a scene of debauch, or, as some suppose, by poison mingled in his wine.

Hannibal, whose name carried terror to the heart of Rome itself, after having crossed the Alps and put to flight the armies of the mistress of the world, was driven from his country and died at last of poison administered by his own hands in a foreign land, unlamented and unwept.

Caesar, the conqueror of 800 cities, and his temples bound with chaplets dipped in the blood of a million of his foes, was miserably assassinated by those he considered his nearest friends.

Bonaparte, whose mandate kings and emperors obeyed, after filling the earth with the terror of his name, closed his days in lonely banishment upon a barren rock in the midst of the Atlantic

Such the four men who may be considered representatives of all whom the world calls great, and such their end-intoxication, or poison, suicide, murdered by friends, lonely exite!

Queer Sights Abroad.

When I was in Aix-les-Bains last summer, I saw a stout German woman sitting at another table eating from an enormous pile of plates. I thought at first she was carving or doing something of that kind, but as the meal progressed and the pile became no less I made inquiry and found out that she was extremely nearsighted, and the pile of plates-exactly 19 in numberwas necessary to raise her food to a point where it would come within her range of vision. She was no less a personage than the Duchess of Sleswick-Holstein.

In Italy they do not use glass in the windows on account of the expense and replace it with wood or other material. In order to relieve the monotony, I suppose, they have a habit of painting household scenes on these blank spaces. In one window you will see an old chap reading his paper and in another a young miss doing up her hair. There are also other scenes of even more intimate family character, which I will leave to your imagination.

In Athens one day I went out to buy something or other, which, I remember, cost 5 drachmae. For it I tendered a 10 drachma note in payment, and in order to make change the storekeeper tore it neatly in two and returned one-half to me. Convenient, wasn't it? | but I stated my arguments and clinch--New York Tribune.

Showed Her Teeth.

One of the last things people like to admit usually is that their teeth are not their own in the sense of not having grown in their mouths. A single member from a porcelain factory is not objectionable. The need of it might be caused by an accident or for a good many reasons, but when it comes to several and a plate, then the subject becomes a delicate one.

But there was a woman in the street cars the other day who apparently had a brand new set of teeth and she was strangely proud of them. She first attracted the attention of passengers by the smiles that she lavished upon them indiscriminately. Every smile brought the new teeth into view more prominently and the evidence that they were false and the people began to smile quietly themselves. But even then the woman was not sure that her new treasures were properly observed. and, drawing in her lower lip, she brought her upper teeth down upon it and tapped them carelessly with her finger, looking off into vacancy meanwhile with a conscious air of unconsciousness.-New York Times.

Cured the Curious Youth.

"Pawing over the unclaimed mail is a favorite amusement among a certain set of idle youths," said a hotel clerk yesterday. "'Any letters for So-andso? they will ask, giving an imaginary name, their object being apparently to gratify idle curiosity by studying the superscriptions and reading the postals: Last fall an idiot of that type received a severe lesson here in this house. He made the usual request, giving rather a peculiar name, which he afterward admitted he had thought of on the spur of the moment. By a remarkable coincidence two central office detectives were standing near the desk at the time, and the name he gave was Record.

that of a noted crook who was wanted by the police of Chicago very badly.

"Without a word more than was necessary they took the young gentleman by the arm and carried him off to police headquarters. He was so astonished that he was unable to make a coherent explanation and really presented a picture of guilt. His story at headquarters that he had asked for letters under an assumed name was regarded as so improbable that they held him until telegraphic inquiries could be made. Of course it turned out that he was not the Chicago crook, but he got the scare of his life, and you may rest assured that he has dropped that form of amusement from his indulgences."-New York News.

He Wasn't "Soaked."

"When I go over to the old country I am going to get a lot of clothes to bring back with me," said a well known Windsorite, who went abroad recently

"Oh," said his hearer, "if that is the case, I have a brother who is a tailor in London, and I will give you a letter of introduction and write him telling him to use you right."

In course of time the traveler stepped into the tailor shop in London and presented his letter of introduction. He got a warm handshake from the tailor, who said he had received a letter from his brother telling of the traveler's expected arrival, but could not understand part of the letter. The letter, when produced, read:

"Dear Brother-The bearer, Mr. is from our place and wishes to get a lot of clothes in London. He has all sorts of money. Soak him. Yours affectionately.'

The part of the letter that could not be understood was the concluding phrase. The traveler of course understood the Americanism, but managed to keep his face straight while he gave it a favorable construction. He saved the laugh until he could have it on his American friend. - Chicago Inter

Queer Sights Abroad.

When I was in Aix-les-Bains last summer, I saw a stout German woman sitting at another table eating from an enormous pile of plates. I thought at first she was carving or doing something of that kind, but as the meal progressed and the pile became no less I made inquiry and found out that she was extremely nearsighted, and the pile of plates-exactly 19 in numberwas necessary to raise her food to a point where it would come within her range of vision. She was no less a personage than the Duchess of Sleswick-Holstein.

In Italy they do not use glass in the windows on account of the expense and replace it with wood or other material. In order to relieve the monotony, I suppose, they have a habit of painting household scenes on these blank spaces. In one window you will see an old chap reading his paper and in another a young miss doing up her hair. There are also other scenes of even more intimate family character. which I will leave to your imagination.

In Athens one day I went out to buy something or other, which, I remember, cost 5 drachmae. For it I tendered a 10 drachma note in payment, and in order to make change the storekeeper tore it neatly in two and returned one-half to me. Convenient, wasn't it? -New York Tribune.

Showed Her Teeth.

One of the last things people like to admit usually is that their teeth are not their own in the sense of not having grown in their mouths. A single member from a porcelain factory is not objectionable. The need of it might be caused by an accident or for a good many reasons, but when it comes to several and a plate, then the subject becomes a delicate one.

But there was a woman in the street cars the other day who apparently had a brand new set of teeth and she was strangely proud of them. She first attracted the attention of passengers by the smiles that she lavished upon them indiscriminately. Every smile brought the new teeth into view more prominently and the evidence that they were false and the people began to smile quietly themselves. But even then the woman was not sure that her new treasures were properly observed. and, drawing in her lower lip, she brought her upper teeth down upon it and tapped them carelessly with her finger, looking off into vacancy meanwhile with a conscious air of unconsciousness.-New York Times.

Cured the Curious Youth.

"Pawing over the unclaimed mail is a favorite amusement among a certain set of idle youths," said a hotel clerk yesterday. "'Any letters for So-andso?' they will ask, giving an imaginary name, their object being apparently to gratify idle curiosity by studying the superscriptions and reading the postals: Last fall an idiot of that type received a severe lesson here in this house. He made the usual request. giving rather a peculiar name, which he afterward admitted he had thought of on the spur of the moment. By a remarkable coincidence two central office detectives were standing near the desk at the time, and the name he gave was Record.

that of a noted crook who was wanted by the police of Chicago very badly.

"Without a word more than was necessary they took the young gentleman by the arm and carried him off to police headquarters. He was so astonished that he was unable to make a coherent explanation and really presented a picture of guilt. His story at headquarters that he had asked for letters under an assumed name was regarded as so improbable that they held him until telegraphic inquiries could be made. Of course it turned out that he was not the Chicago crook, but he got the scare of his life, and you may rest assured that he has dropped that form of amusement from his indulgences."-New York News.

He Wasn't "Soaked."

"When I go over to the old country I am going to get a lot of clothes to bring back with me," said a well known Windsorite, who went abroad

"Oh," said his hearer, "if that is the case. I have a brother who is a tailor in London, and I will give you a letter of introduction and write him telling him to use you right."

In course of time the traveler step ped into the tailor shop in London and presented his letter of introduction. He got a warm handshake from the tailor, who said he had received a letter from his brother telling of the traveler's expected arrival, but could not understand part of the letter. The letter, when produced, read:

"Dear Brother-The bearer, Mr. is from our place and wishes to get a lot of clothes in London. He has all sorts of money. Soak him. Yours affectionately."

The part of the letter that could not be understood was the concluding phrase. The traveler of course understood the Americanism, but managed to keep his face straight while he gave it a favorable construction. He saved the laugh until he could have it on his American friend. - Chicago Inter Ocean.

His Plea For Water.

"If there is anything I dislike," remarked Colonel Stilwell, wiping his mustache with impressive deliberation, "it is a bigoted person. Some of the people at my home in Kentucky came very near taking permanent offense at me, but I held out and finally convinced them."

"What was the discussion about?"

"It was the old controversy. Somebody mentioned water, and Judge Morgan stated his opinion that it was something that ought to be abolished. The major argued for its use in moderation, but the judge wouldn't have it. I was sorry to disagree with the judge, but I stated my arguments and clinched them so that he had to give in. I called his attention to the great achievements which all the world is now engaged in applauding. I recalled to his mind the glories of our naval heroes, the men who are so proud of their country, the men of whom their country is so proud. Then I pointed my finger at the judge and asked him how those naval heroes could have done these glorious deeds if there hadn't been plenty of water for them to sail their ships on."-Washington Star.

Trains, Worry, Disease and Death.

Late trains are a source of annoyance to everybody. The British Medical Journal dwells upon the very serious result produced by them upon the health of travelers. The rush to the station to catch the train which may perchance be punctual; the weary wait on drafty platforms or in stuffy waiting rooms; the dilatory journey-all these, we are told, add seriously to the labor of the day even in the best of times, but when the weather is cold and damp they are still more injurious and in that they are largely responsible for those "colds," as they are called. those conditions of depressed vitality which are the starting points of most of the acute diseases from which men suffer and from which the elderly and the feeble die.

Genuine Courtesy.

Surface manners are like cut flowers stuck in a shallow glass with just enough water to keep them fresh an hour or so; but the courtesy that has its growth in the heart is like the rosebush in the garden that no inclement season can kill and no dark day force to forego the unfolding of a bud.

Not Entirely One.

"And so they were made one." "Oh, I don't know. I believe she still has a mind of her own."-Chicago

Latter, When Dangerously Ills, Confessed They Murdered the Former's Wife.

Napoleon, O., Nov. 23.—Frederick Klinter and his son Henry, farmers near here, were arrested charged with the murder of Mrs. Frederick Klinter, the father' second wife, in 1894. At the time the woman's body was found in the garden near her home with her throat cut and a knife wound near her heart. Suicide was advanced. The weapon was found tightly clasped in her fingers. His son was by his first wife.

About two months ago Henry Klinter, while dangerously ill, confessed that Frederick Klinter felled his wife with a club and the son cut her throat. They then changed their clothing and attended a party. The confession had been kept quiet. The murder was unprovoked.

A Table Load of Dress Goods Bargains

We have gone all through our stock of Black and Colored Wool Dress Goods and culled out every short length in the entire stock, measured each piece, and marked the price low enough to clean up the lot in a hurry. There are about 200 pieces in the lot, and among them are waist patterns, skirt patterns, wrapper patterns and children's dress patterns, all good desirable goods, this seasou's productions, and none the less valuable to you on account of being in short lengths. You can save some money in buying liberally from this collection. You will find these goods on center table, in dress goods aisle.

Bargains in Lace Curtains.

The same thing has been done in our Lace Curtain Department as in the dress goods department. Every number of curtain in the entire stock, of which there are less than 3 pairs, has been placed on the bargain counter in the basement and will be sold at regular retail prices, less 25 per cent. If to save 25 per cent on every dollar invested in lace curtains is an object to you, you will see these.

Curtain Ends at 50c Each.

About twenty-five high priced curtain ends; to close out the lot, your choice for 50c each.

Underwear Barqains.

On a center table in the Market street aisle you will find a stack of odd sizes in ladies' and childrens' underwear. If you can find the sizes you want in the lot, for every dollar's worth you buy we will refund you 20c. In other words you purchase $1.00 worth of underwear for 80c.

John R. McLean, brother of Mrs. Dewey, said in part: "It was simply an act of courtesy which the admiral thought might be agreeable to Mrs. Dewey, and which would delight both him and his son. The criticisms of Admiral Dewey have been inspired by certain persons, who, for well understood reasons, have little love for the admiral. It is an insidious attack upon a representative American by hidden political foes. I believe that the fight which has started so insidiously will soon become open, and I have no doubt that the American people, who always love fair play, will resent these unjust and injuri ous attacks upon Admiral Dewey's forgotten by the men responsible for the criticisms."

DEWEY HURT BY CRITICISM

Said He Felt Like Going on the Retired List and Leaving the Country.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 .- The deed conveying the home presented by the people to Admiral Dewey from Mrs. Mildred McLean Dewey to George Goodwin Dewey, the admiral's only son, was placed on record here. The

In an interview Admiral Dewey expressed surprise at the criticism of his action in transferring to his wife the home presented to him by the people. He further said in part:

"Where I was a hero two months ago I am now reduced to such a position that certain people cannot say things too villainous, too scurrilous about me and no and defende me

"When I made it over to my wife, I thought I was doing the most gracious act that an American gentleman could do. It seems that I was mistaken. Mrs. Dewey understood better than I did the feeling of the people, and at first declined to permit the house to be The funeral of the child of Mr. and transferred to her. She did consent which was the gift to me of the American people, but her entire personal fortune, which is considerable, was to ultimately go to my son George.

"As for conveying it to my wife to avoid payment of any debts or obligations, I can only say that I have never had any debts.

"I do not intend to arraign the entire American people for the acts of a few But I am hurt. I am cut to the quick. I never have telt so badly in all my life. I want the Americans to know it. I want them to know that if I could I would return to the contributors to the find the house purchased with their accepted it had I known what it would cost me. If I should continue to feel as I do now, I would cut it ail, throw up everything, go on the retired list and go abroad. In fact, I feel so discouragedso worn out—that I scarcely know what I will do. I hardly feel like living in a country where I can be attacked in so outrageous a manner without being defended by anyone.

"The American people are not through with me yet. When the American people wanted me to command a fleet and to sail into Manila harbor, I did my dnty as I saw it, and as I believe a sailor should. And if they want me now, or, at some future time, to command another fleet, my life and sword are always at the disposal of my coan-

John R. McLean, brother of Mrs. Dewey, said in part: "It was simply an act of courtesy which the admiral thought might be agreeable to Mrs. Dewey, and which would delight both him and his son. The criticisms of Admiral Dewey have been inspired by certain persons, who, for well understood reasons, have little love for the admiral. It is an insidious attack upon a representative American by hidden political foes. I believe that the fight which has started so insidiously will soon become open, and I have no doubt that the American people, who always love fair play, will resent these unjust and injuri forgotten withe men responsible for the criticisms."

15TH YEAR. NO. 142.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., THURSDAY, NOV. 23, 1899.

TWO CENTS

Two Services to Be Held Over Hobart's Remains.

SOLDIERS ORDERED TO PATERSON

The Public to Have an Opportunity to View the Remains Tomorrow Afternoon-Many Messages of Condolence. Mrs. Hobart Bearing Up Well.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. The body of the late Garrett A. Hobart will not lie in state in the city hall, as was desired by the city authorities, but on Friday afternoon the casket will be open in the library of his home, and for three hours the public may view the face of the late vice president.

The body lies in a handsome casket of oak, the plate bearing this inscription: 1844.

Garrett A. Hobart. 1899.

The following official statement was given out at the Hobart residence by Private Secretary Evans:

The funeral services over the body of the late vice president will be held at the Church of the Redeemer, Paterson, on Saturday, Nov. 25, at 2:30 p. m.

"Inasmuch as the seating accommodation of the church is entirely inadequate, it will be necessary that seats be reserved for the various national, state and local officials, representatives of the organizations with which Mr. Hobart was connected and intimate personal friends of the family. It is, therefore, impossible to provide for the general public until various officials, representatives and friends have been accommo-

"Previous to the public exercises on Saturday afternoon a brief service will be held at the Hobart mansion only for the family, the president and his cabinet and intimate personal friends.

"On Friday afternoon the body of the vice president will be placed in the library of his home, where the public may have an opportunity to view it. The interment will be, at the convenience of the family, at Cedar Lawn

Four companies of regular soldiers from Governor's Island will take part in the funeral ceremony and will probably act as an escort from the late residence of the vice president to the church. The military will also act as an escort to President McKinley and his party. A great many messages of condolence were received, including messages from Chief Justice Fuller of the United States supreme court, General Gordon of Savannah, Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, Daniel N. Morgan, formerly treasurer of the United States; United States Senator Carter of Montana, United States Minister Harris at Vienna; the Oregon State Bar association, Mrs. Julia Dent Grant and a number of foreign ministers at Washington.

All of the public buildings in Paterson have been draped, as well as many of the private residences throughout New Jersey.

Dr. Newton, the vice president's physician, filed the certificate of death, giving the cause of death as "dilation of the heart, due to myocarditis.'

Up to the present the names of the pallbearers have not been announced. Mr. Hobart two months ago, when he feared something might happen, named six of his most intimate friends in New Jersey, and it is believed that these will act as his pallbearers. Mrs. Hobart is bearing up well under her great trouble, and was able to see a few of her most intimate friends, including Attorney General Griggs and Mrs. Griggs and Rev. Dr. David Magie, who will deliver the funeral oration. The services in the house will probably be conducted by Rev. Dr. Magie of Paterson, Rev. Dr. Hamlin of Washington and the blind chaplain of the senate, Rev. Dr. Milburn. The musical part of the program will be in charge of the Orpheus club of Paterson, and A. Hobart Smock of New York, a relative of the vice president.

It was believed that Mr. Hobart was Worth $2,000,000 or $3,000,000. His life was insured for $350,000.

Treasure on Sunken Spanish Ships.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Nov. 23.-The Wreckers working on the sunken Spanish armored cruiser Almirante Oquendo discovered a chest containing $19,000 in Spanish gold. Many thousand dollars' Worth of treasure has been secured. Only a few days ago the wreckers began on the torpedoboat destroyer ruror. they have aiready found a service of heavy silver plate. Experts say the Furor could have been saved. The wrecking operations have proved a source of large returns to the companies, estimated at $500,000.

A BRITISH FLAG

AT HALFMAST.

English Nation at Embassy Shows Its Respect For the Memory of Hobart-Funeral Details.

WASHINGTON. Nov. 23.—The British jack over the British embassy was at halfmast, as a mark of respect for the late Vice President Hobart. Lord Pauncefote and the members of his staff left their cards at the White House as a further evidence of respect. The halfmasting of the embassy flag attracted considerable attention, and was regarded as an unusual mark of consideration to an American official.

In response to a large number of telegraphic inquiries, the treasury department desires it stated that the offices of all collectors of customs, and collectors of internal revenue, stamp deputies and other officials will be closed on next Saturday, the day of the funeral of Vice President Hobart.

At the request of Attorney General Griggs, the secretary of war has directed that 200 regular troops be sent to Paterson, N. J., on the day of the funeral of Vice President Hobart. These troops will be on police duty in the vicinity of and around the residence.

Orders went out from the navy de partment to the commanding officers or the naval stations at home and abroad to observe the formalities indicated in the president's proclamation respecting the deceased official.

The sergeant-at-arms of the senate received notice from the following senators who will attend the funeral, meet ing for that purpose at the Fifth Avenue hotel. New York, on Saturday morning:

Aldrich, Allison, Bacon, Baker, Berry Beveridge, Burrows, Clark of Wyoming, Clark of Montana, Cockrell, Cul berson, Daniel, Depew, Fairbanks, Foraker, Foster, Frye, Gallinger, Hale, Hanna, Hansbrough, Harris, Hawley Heitfeld, Hoar, Jones of Arkansas Jones of Nevada, Kean, Kenney, Kyle, Lindsay, Lodge, McComas, McLaurin. McMillan, Martin, Mason, Penrose, Platt of Connecticut, Proctor, Ross, Scott, Sewell, Spooner, Taliferro, Tillman, Wetmore and Wolcott.

Of the senators so far heard from who cannot attend Messrs. Bate, Hayward, Mallory, Vest and Warren are sick.

The pallbearers selected on the par the senate are: Senators Sewell, Kean, Frye, Fairbanks, Hanna, McMillan, Cockrell and Daniel. The house pallbearers will be designated by Mrs. Hobart and have not yet been named.

The present understanding is that all the members of the United States supreme court, with the possible exception of Justice White, will attend. Mr. White is ill and probably will be compelled to remain in Washington.

Following is a list of the members of the house selected to attend the funeral: Representatives Henderson, Joy, Brosius, Livingston, Meyer, Ball, Kleberg, Rixey, Cushman, Barnham, Boutelle, Robinson, Long, Gillett, Morris, Clark, Mercer, Loudenslager, Gardner, Howell, Salmon, Stewart, Parker, Daly, Fowler, Ketcham, McClellan, Bingham, Sibley, Dalzell, Adams, Brownlow, Alexander, White, Robbins, Davis, Burke, Spalding, Benton, Showalter, Clayton and

Orders were sent to General Otis in the Philippines and General Brooke in Cuba and General Davis in Porto Rico to have flags at all garrisons half masted on Saturday, the day of the funeral of Vice President Hobart.

Skirmishes at Mooi River With Casualties-Boers Said British Tried to Relieve Estcourt From Ladysmith, but Failed-Intercepted Messenger.

LONDON, Nov. 23 .- Although it is evident that the situation in Natal is again becoming sufficiently alarming, nothing can be officially ascertained to allay public anxiety or the curiosity felt regarding the disposition of the reinforcements recently landed in Durban. The war office dispatches are confined to a mere recital of a few casualties at Mooi river, which confirm the reports of skirmishes there.

One correspondent says that 7,000 Boers are within 25 miles of Howick Falls, near Pietermaritzburg, and that the inhabitants are fleeing to the capi-

General Joubert's plan, apparently, is a daring attempt to defeat the British relieving column from Durban in detail, while still attempting the reduction of Ladysmith. A serious attack on Mooi river camp is now hourly expected, with the object of destroying the bridge at Weston. Should this be accomplished, the Boers would be free to turn their attention to Estcourt, while if it failed, the enemy would retire again on Weenen and rejoin the investing forces around Ladysmith.

PRETORIA, Nov. 23.—The fellowing dispatch was received from the Boer headquarters near Ladysmith: "The field cornets of the Pretoria commando reported that British gun carriages and some horsemen had been heard moving last night in Ladysmith. Our outposts observed the British endeavoring to sortie toward Lombards kop and Bulwama hill, where our Maxims opened fire. The range was too great and, therefore our artillery began shelling, which drove the British back. About daybreak the British batteries fired upon our positions. Two Burgh-

She Was Locked Up In the Government Training School to Enforce the Indian Agent's Order to Go to School-She Is a Brave's Wife-Court Acts.

DES MOINES, Nov. 23.-Four hundred "redskins" at the Sac and Fox Indian reservation, in Tama county, are ready to start on the warpath with rifle and tomahawk.

I. E. Wilcox of Montour was in consultation with Judge Oliver P. Shiras of the federal court here, and said that it was only because of his personal intercession that the Indians had been prevented from making a personal sssault on the people of Tama county and Toledo to avenge themselves for alleged wrongs inflicted by the Indian agent.

Wilcox finally arranged with Judge Shiras to go to Cedar Rapids and there file a petition for habeas corpus for the release of an Indian girl, aged 18, confined in the government Indian training school at Toledo for a month. Wilcox returned to his home, assuring the officials that he will be able to control the Indians as long as the courts have the controversy in hand.

ATTEMPTED JURY BRIBERY.

Three Mea Arrested on Charge In Ingham and Newitt Case.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23. - Charged with attempting to influence the jury in the conspiracy and bribery cases against former United States District Attorney Ellery P. Ingham and Harvey K. Newitt, three men were arrested by secret service operatives. Their names are Thomas O'Dea, Harry J. Fairbanks and George W. Peifer, all of this city.

They were arraigned before United States Commissioner Edmunds. They expressed a desire to consult counser, and were committed in default of $5,000 bail each for a further hearing next Friday afternoon.

The overt act, United States District Attorney Beck said, consisted in the fact that on Saturday, Oct. 14, two of the three defendants had approached the brother-in-law of one of the Ingham and Newitt jurors with the request that he influence the juror to vote aginst conviction. The juror was to receive $500 and the brother-in-law $400. The district attorney asserted that other attempts were made to bribe not only the juror in question, but others.

WILL TAKE NO CHANCES

The Case of Thomas Putnam May Not Be Smallpox,

BUT EVERY PRECAUTION IS MADE

Under Direction of the State Board of Health -- Mushenheim Returns -- Many People Are Sick--The Ormes Robbery. United States Boat at the Island,

It is not settled yet whether Thomas Putnam, of the East End, really has the smallpox but Health Officer Ogden says it looks very much as though he has. He will be held as a smallpox patient and the rigid quarantine will be maintained.

Doctor Probst, secretary of the state board of health was notified, but is unable to come here before next week. He gave Health Officer Ogden instructions to keep up the quarantine and stated that the action he had taken in the matter was correct.

It is thought that the boy, Roy Thompson, is suffering with the chicken pox.

A disease has made its appearance in Pittsburg that closely resembles smallpox but there is a diversity of opinion as to what it really is and it is thought that Putnam may be suffering from this complaint.

There is no cause for alarm on the part of any person as there is no danger that the disease will spread even if it is smallpox.

AMONG THE SICK.

Harry Mushenheim May Locate In the East End Permanently

Henry Mushenheim, of Mulberry street, has received word from Pittsburg that his son Harry, who left his home in Mt. Washington several weeks ago without saying where he was going, had returned to Pittsburg. Mushenheim claims he took a trip through the west after he left East End for Wheeling. He claims he left home for a vacation. It is probable Mushenheim will return to East End and open a cigar factory.

There has been a great deal of discussion about the appointment of library commission by the council. It was the intention to have the board consist of 11 members but this question is not left to the council as there is a law on the subject. Section 4002, subdivision 40 of the Revised Statutes of Ohio provides that in cities having a population of less than 30,000 the library board shall consist of feet deep. NICE COUNTERFEIT.

The Bagley Company Pick Up a Very Neat Counterfeit.

The Bagley Co., Second street, can testify that there is a very neat counterfeit ten cent piece in the market. The dime in question passed through a number of hands without detection and was finally taken to the bank for deposit. In some manner it had become a very little bent, and an astute and observant clerk placed it between his teeth and closed his molars forcibly on the "ten center," when it snapped, clean cut, like so much glass, evidently possessing qualities which the coiner desired to cause it to have a merry "ring." Migrating Birds.

The distances over which birds migrate vary between wide limits and are often surprisingly great. The bobolinks, which rear their young on the shores of Lake Winnipeg and go to Cuba and Porto Rico to spend the winter, twice traverse a distance exceeding 2,800 miles, or more than a fifth of the circumference of our earth, each year. The kingbird lays its eggs as far north as the fifty-seventh degree of latitude and is found in the winter in South America. The biennial pilgrimages of the little redstart exceed 3,000 miles and the tiny humming bird 2,000.

AT THE NEW RESERVOIR

The Water Works Department Doing Good Work.

A FILL ON BRADSHAW AVENUE

From Ten to Twenty-two Feet and That Thoroughfare Is Now In Good Condition. A Description of How the New Reservoir Will be Arranged When Completed.

Few people in the city have an idea of the magnitude of the work being done by the water works department at the new reservoir.

Should the weather remain good this fall and there is an early spring the excavating should be completed by April 1. Out of the hole has been taken enough sand to be used in making cement, and there is also a large pile of clay reserved to be used for puddle. The dirt that has been taken from the hole has been hauled on Bradshaw avenue and a fill of from 10 to 22 feet has been made putting the valley in splendid condition and enhancing the value of property in that vicinity at least $100 to the lot. Bradshaw avenue will be a nice street when the department gets through with it and the city will be saved at least $2,000, as they would have been compelled to make the fill in a few

The excavation is now so deep that it would be impossible for teams to hau 1 the wagons out, so an engine has been brought into service and a cable is attached to the pole of the wagons and they are drawn out of the hole without much effort.

The Reservoir

will be 140x275 feet and the excavation will be 27 feet deep before it is lined, but all the lining will take up about two feet, making the reservoir when completed 25 and 8,000,000 gallons of water.

The filter plant will be located in the southeast corner of the reservoir and gravel and sand will be used. The filter pipe and the high service pressure will be connected with it so that it can be cleaned out at any time. It will be so arranged that the cleanings will pass through the washout and back into the river. It is an excellant arrangement and could not be better.

The water will be pumped into the filter and from there will flow into the new reservoir and thence into the old reservoir and then into the mains. Connections will be made so that the water can be turned into the mains from the new reservoir also, so that either reservoir can be used while the other is being cleaned or repairs are being made.

Plenty of Water.

After the new reservoir has been completed there will be enough water to last the city for a week and the pumps can be shut down in case of floods, dirty water or while wickets at Davis island dam are being raised or for any other cause. There will be no change at the pump house with the exception that some of the night pumping may be done away with.

EARNED NOT BOUGHT.

Staying Power Counts In a Long and Stern Race.

East Liverpool people need not be told how hard it is to earn and maintain a good reputation, and how easy it is to lose one. After such a loss it is well nigh impossible to recover the ground and the majority who have slipped by the wayside have been forced to stay there. As with a man's reputation so it is with medicinal preparations. Some achieve a reputation which stays with them. It is founded on intrinsic merit and not sustained by elaborate advertising. It faces the public backed up by honesty and works its way quietly, but thoroughly. East Liverpool people want no better proof of the reputation earned by Doan's kidney pills than the following experience from a citizen:

Mr. Robert McNewell, carpenter of West Fifth street, says: "If everyone received the same results from the course of treatment prescribed by Doan's kidney pills and my advice is, go to Larkins' drug store, procure a box, take them according to directions and the results will inevitably follow. One box effected a cure in my case, the particu lars of which I will be only too pleased to give to anyone personally calling upon me."

Hunters Encounter Trouble While Passing Through Chester-Breaks Occurred Literary Society Meeting.

Unless trains are running on the Cumberland extension by the first of the year it is likely all work at the mill will be suspended. The force of workmen at the mill has been reduced on account of the non-arrival of materials, and it is said more men will be laid off on this account. Yesterday breaks occarred on every steam shovel working on the extension and the excavating is being done very slowly. The contractors are now filling in the river bank opposite Walker and until this is finished no rails will be laid.

The Three Musketeers.

"The Three Musketeers," the greatest romantic success that ever was produced in New York City and which ran at two famous play houses there for an entire season, comes to the Grand Opera House next Monday evening, Nov. 27, with all original scenery and beautiful costumes. The organization, which is a large one, is headed by Daniel R. Ryan, an actor who has been associated with metropolitan successes, and a prime favorite in East Liverpool. He is a fine, handsome and manly actor and in romantic roles none since the days of Salvini has equalled his impersonation as D'Artagnan. In "The Three Musketeers" he gives a vivid picture of a swash buckling cavalier during the reign of Louis XIII. Notwithstanding the great expense of this production, the prices will be 10, 20 and 30 cents. Seats on sale tomorrow morning at 9 a. m., Reed's drug store. Under no circumstances will "The Three Musketeers" be repeated during this engagement.

Convincing a Connoisseur.

Some years ago the late Dr. Cok nette undertook to make a bottle o port that should not cost more that threepence which the best jushould be unable to distinguish for the highest priced wine that could obtained in the island. The preparat was compounded openly before a la: assemblage, and three compete judges were selected to test the prouct. The basis of this compound cider, colored with an infusion of le wood. To this he added a few grain of tartaric acid and salt of tartar to give respectively a rough taste and a mellowed appearance. When three glasses of this compound and three glasses of recognized port were pre sented to the judges to taste and pass their verdict, without being told which was which, they unanimously pronounced in favor of the doctor's cheap preparation and rejected the genuine port. What they would have said the next morning if they had consumed a bottle of this preparation remains a matter of conjecture.-London Chroni-

THE POTTERY TARIFF.

Elsewhere in this issue is answered a query from a correspondent regarding the tariff on earthenware under recent tariff legislation. A glance at the figures shows very plainly what a factor sound protective legislation has been to the staple industry of this city. Is it any wonder East Liverpool is a Republican city in view of such a showing?

ASK AN AMENDMENT.

The state association of county auditors proposes to ask the legislature to take radical action on the question of money taxation. At present the auditors estimate that less than ten per cent of all the money in the state is listed for taxation. They want the legislature to submit to a vote of the people a constitutional amendment providing for the exemption of all money from taxation and reducing the such an exemption.

OUGHT TO KNOW.

W. J. Ghent, manager of Mayor Jones campaign for governor, has written to the Toledo Blade, repudiating most emphatically the Democratic assertion that the 107,000 votes cast for Jones were against the expansion policy of the administration. He says the only two Jones speakers who opposed expansion lost Jones votes. This declaration is interesting in view of the McLean claim that the vote of McLean and Jones together show a majority of Ohioans voted against the policy of the administration. Ghent ought to know how his voters stood, better than McLean.

NEXT YEAR

As next year is the presidential one, the Republican and Democratic state conventions will likely both be held earlier than usual, perhaps in March or April. The ticket to be nominated in 1900 in Ohio is small and will be a secretary of state, supreme court judge, dairy and food commissioner and member of the board of public works. The Republicans will naturally be auxious for an early convention to set the pace for the other states in the interest of President McKinley's renomination, and as John R. McLean will be a candidate for the Democratic vice-presidential nomination he will be equally anxious to whoop up his candidacy by an early endorsement from the Ohio Democracy.

Pobert Drabble Passed Away Yesterday

AT THE HOME OF HIS DAUGHTER

He Had Been Suffering From Neuralgia of the Heart, but was Up Yesterday Morning and Was Feeling a Great Deal Better When He Went to Bed.

Robert Drabble was found dead in bed yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Nellie Allen, West Market street.

Deceased had an attack of neuralgia the heart last Saturday and for a short time it was thought he was dead. He rallied, however, and seemed to be much improved. Yesterday morning he got up and was around in the house until 11 o'clock when he went to bed. When his daughter went to call him at 12:30 o'clock she discovered that he was dead, A physician was sent for who said that he had probably been dead for 10 minutes when his daughter found him and his death was due to another attack of neuralgia.

Deceased was aged 62 years and leaves a family of five girls and one boy. He was one of the oldest residents of the city and was well known here, having resided on Fifth street for a number of years. At the time of his death he was making his home with his daughter, Mrs. Nellie Allen, West Market street.

The funeral will take place Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Aloysius church. Interment in the Catholic cemetery.

REMOVE YOUR HATS.

Evangelist Smith Had a Talk With the Ladies Last Night.

Say, readers, Evangelist Smith made a happy hit last night when he voiced

"Ladies, I have a request from someone, and it is a double decker, or wears two horns of a dilemma. The request is that I shall take a position on the upper platform, or else ask the ladies to remove their hats, in order that the view from the rear may be unobstructed. I won't ask you to take off your hats; but what answer will you make to the request of one of your own number?"

Hats came off all over the house and the transformation was wonderful, and it was a source of pleasure to many persons in the house to be relieved from the mountains of hats and feathers which had obstructed the view a moment before. Several selfish and possibly bald-headed women remained stubborn and defiantly tossed their plumes in mid-air. They are to be pitied and may possibly be converted from the error of their way. The speaker raised a hearty response of laughter by remarking, after the headgear came off

"Well, ladies, I must remark that you are much more handsome with THEM hats off.'

For Domestic Reasons--Department Refuses His Request--Friction With the Transvaal Government Over Requests of British Government for Prisoners' Relief.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 .- [Special |-United States Corsul Macrum at Pretoria has asked the state department for leave of absence, with permission to take advantage of it at once. He pleads domestic reasons for leaving his post and offers to place in the consulate as the representative of the United States Vice Consul Attlebury, who is now on the ground. The department, however, refused to accede to the request and Mr Macrum will stay where he is, unless he sees fit to quit his post without permission.

It is learned that so far Mr. Macrum has not been prohibited by the Boer government from caring for the welfare of the British subjects now in the Trans vaal and the Free State, or at least he has not yet so notified the state department. There has been some friction encountered in the effort of the British government to secure permission for the United States consul to disburse fonds for the benefit of the British soldiers held as prisoners of war.

Mr. N. G. Macrum, father of Consul Macrum, stated this morning that the news in the Washington dispatch was the first he had heard of his son's request. The last letter received from him was dated October 6, before the war began.

The drama was presented in this city some eight years ago, with good success, but the author has in the meantime rewritten the piece, adding many new dialogues, tabelaux and incidents conceived their share of attention. They consist of the Irish spy, taken by Mr. Conneil himself; a good negro in the hands of J. C. Bailey, the old time black face favorite; while LeRoy Orr handles the German character in an almost perfect manner. The balance of the cast is made up of the very best local talent, who have been indefatigable in their efforts to make this the best performance of its kind ever seen in the city. Feeding Their Dena.

Twice a year, in the first week of April and October, the Chinese feed their dead. They think, very sensibly, that once their friends and relatives leave this mortal coil they ought to stay away from this world, and to prevent their return they faithfully transmit to them all the necessaries of life. It has been discovered by oriental wisdom that the way to transmit servants, songs, plays, books and money is to manufacture them in paper and burn them. But actual eatables must be carried to the grave.

The Chinese are not stingy, and wagon loads of roasted chickens, pigs, ducks, various sweetmeats and fruits are taken to the cemeteries. The food is piled before each grave amid burning red, carrot shaped candles and joss sticks. Then the living prostrate themselves before the dead and beg them to rise up and enjoy themselves. Chinese wines are then sprinkled liberally over the graves, while some graves rereive boxes of cigars and packages of cigarettes.

But you must not suppose that the eatables are left on the graves. Oh, no! That would be throwing too much tramps. In about two hours it is believed that the ghosts got the essence of the eatables conveyed to them, and then the devotees gather up the offerings and carry them home again to feed to their own material bodies. But the cigars and cigarettes are burned on the graves.

Directory Flends.

A man with a grip entered a down town drug store and asked permission to look at the city directory. He was so long about his search that one of the clerks got to watching him, and not without results. The man was apparently looking through the business indexes at the back of the book, and whenever he came to a page he fancied he cut it out with a deft movement, barely detectible. The clerk called the proprietor, and between them they saw him cut no less than five pages from the book.

Then the proprietor beckoned to a policeman just outside the window and went up to his customer.

"Got through with the book?" he

"Yes, quite," was the reply. "Much obliged. Is there any charge?"

"Yes; the usual charge," said the drug store man. "Eight dollars. please."

The man looked at the proprietor, took in the policeman and without a word produced his wad and settled.

"This is not the first time people have mutilated my directory," said the druggist in relating the incident. "but it's the first vandal I caught at it. Instead of copying the few names he wants he preferred to cut out whole leaves. Well, he paid for his fun." Cleveland Plain Dealer.

faid to Have Been Used In South Dakots In the Sixties.

A well known book of reference states that the Chicago Advance was the originator of the word "blizzard" on the 8th of January, 1880. Old timers in South Dakota take exception to the statement. A story is told by the editor of the Hutchinson County Herald, who commenced his newspaper work on the Dakota Republican, at Vermillion, in August, 1867.

The Peake family, Swiss bell ringers, arrived in Vermillion by stage, and William Peake, manager of the bell ringers, said to a party of friends, "I would like to see one of your blizzards I have heard so much about." Mr. True answered: "All right. We will order one for your special benefit and have it here when you come back through here from Yankton."

After showing three nights in Yankton the troupe started homeward to Sioux City, Mr. Peake being on the outside of the stage with the driver. The morning was warm and balmy. Mr. Peake was astonished at the actions of the driver, who suddenly whipped up, and asked what the matter was. T. C. Williams, who was driving, answered that he was afraid Mr. True's order was going to be a little ahead of time. "Look to the northwest," said he. There was the blizzard approaching in all its fury. In almost a minute the blinding snow was being whirled through the air, and Mr. Peake withdrew to the inner part of the stage. It was one of the most terrific storms known to the territory, which is saying considerable. The Peake troupe was compelled to wait several days at Vermillion until Mr. True's blizzard had blown itself out .-Sioux Falls Argus.

READ THE BIBLE 11 TIMES.

Began From Curiosity and Continued Through Interest.

A stout, elderly man was noticed gazing earnestly at a display of "Bibles in all languages" in a show window. A stroller passing halted to see what this man was gazing at and remarked that there was a fine assortment of Bibles

"Yes," said the man, "but I have one at home older and bigger than any of them." There did not seem to be any connection between the age and size of a Bible, so for lack of anything further to say the stroller asked the man if he had ever read his big Bible through.

"Yes," was the reply. "I have read it through 11 times.'

"Holy Moses!" ejaculated the stroller. "What do you think of the Bible after reading it through so many times?"

"Well, the Bible is all right. I will tell you how I came to read it through the first time. An old circuit rider who used to visit my father's house when I was a boy one Sunday preached a sermon from the text, 'For a man shall be judged according to the deeds done in the body.' I asked him if that text was to be found in the Bible, and he said, 'Of course it is.' I said I did not think it was, and he proposed that we both read the Bible through to find it. We did not find it, but I found so many things which interested me that I kept on reading the Bible till I have gone through it 11 times."-Portland Oregonian.

A Curious Looking Egg.

A shark's egg is one of the most odd looking things imaginable and has no more resemblance to an egg, strictly speaking, than it has to a paving stone. In one variety it is pillow shaped and has a long "horn," or "feeler," at each corner. It is about two inches long and the color almost pure black.

It is unprovided with shell, as we understand that word, but the contents are protected by a thick, leathery covering, which has almost as much elasticity about it as a covering of rubber would have.

The "feelers" mentioned catch hold of and wind themselves around pieces of seaweed and other floating objects and hang until the egg is hatched.

One variety of the shark lays 18 eggs during the month of April. These float about until early in December, when the little sharks emerge.

Eating Like a Bird.

It isn't as polite as it is intended to be to say that a person has the appetite of a bird. If a human being ate as much proportionately as does the average bird, the sight would be disgusting. In one shrike there have been found the remains of 79 caterpillars, 24 field hawk that was observed for a month is credited with a record of 1,000 mice in that time. A tame owl ate seven mice, one after the other, and three hours afterward ate four more. The robin eats on an average 14 feet of worms daily.

He Was "Swiped."

He sat in the reading room of a Chicago hotel with a notebook and pencil in his hand, and after wetting the pencil on his tongue a dozen times without writing anything he turned to the man on his left and said:

"I want to get at an expression, but can't think of it. I want something synonymous with avalanche."

"Would landslide do?"

"I've got that."

"In what sense are you going to use

I was swiped, and there are not enough of my mangled remains left to fill a thimble. Thank you, sirliterally swiped off the face of the earth and be hanged to me!"-Wash-

A Complicated Flag.

The Spanish royal standard is most complicated. The red and yellow of the Spanish flag is said to be derived from this occurrence: In 1378 Charles the Bold dipped his fingers in the blood of Geoffrey, count of Barcelona, and drew them down the count's golden shield in token of his appreciation of the latter's bravery. The shield, so marked, became the arms of Barcelona, which became part of Aragon, and its arms were taken by that king-

Now to the royal standard: In the first quarter or upper left hand part of the flag are the arms of Leon and Castile, the lion and the castle; the second quarter is taken up, one-half by the arms of Aragon, one-half by the arms of Sicily. The upper third of the quarter (directly under the first) shows the Austrian colors, the lower two-thirds is divided between the flag of Burgundy and the black lion of Flanders; the upper third of the fourth quarter shows the checkers, another Burgun dian device, while the lower two-thirds is shared by the red eagle of Antwerp and the golden lion of Brabant, and on the top of all this are two shields, one showing the Portuguese arms, the other the French fleur-de-lis. Considerable of a flag that!

Got the Watch.

A Camden lawyer put up a bluff successfully not long ago. A client came to him and explained that a young man had bought a watch from him on the installment plan. He made one payment, gave the watch to a young lady and skipped out. The client wanted to know if he could recover the watch from the young lady. The lawyer said that he could not without spending more money than the watch was worth, except the young woman could be bluffed. The client said a bluff would be paid for if successful, and the lawyer posted the following letter:

"Dear Madam-The watch recently presented to you by Mr. Blank was obtained surreptitiously from the establishment of my client, and unless it is returned by next Tuesday morning I will be obliged to, very reluctantly, dispatch a judicial functionary to your residence with process."

The watch was delivered the following morning and the lawyer received a fine gold chain for writing the letter .-Pittsburg Dispatch.

Made Him Weep.

"Yes," said the rustic editor, "when my first subscription came in brought tears to my eyes."

"Ah, I see," said the caller, "success after so many failures brought emotions that could not be restrained."

"No, it wasn't that, mister; it was because the first subscriber paid his bill bugs, one field mouse and one leech. A in onions."-Chicago News.

Conquerors Conquered.

It is a remarkable and instructive fact that the career of four of the most renowned characters that ever lived closed with a violent or mournful death.

Alexander, after looking down from the dizzy heights of his ambition upon a conquered world and weeping that there were no more to conquer, died of intoxication in a scene of debauch, or, as some suppose, by poison mingled in his wine.

Hannibal, whose name carried ter ror to the heart of Rome itself, after having crossed the Alps and put to flight the armies of the mistress of the world, was driven from his country and died at last of poison administered by his own hands in a foreign land, unlamented and unwept.

Caesar, the conqueror of 800 cities, and his temples bound with chaplets dipped in the blood of a million of his foes, was miserably assassinated by those he considered his nearest friends.

Bonaparte, whose mandate kings and emperors obeyed, after filling the earth with the terror of his name, closed his days in lonely banishment upon a barren rock in the midst of the Atlantic ocean.

Such the four men who may be considered representatives of all whom the world calls great, and such their end-intoxication, or poison, suicide, murdered by friends, lonely exite!

Queer Sights Abroad.

When I was in Aix-les-Bains last summer, I saw a stout German woman sitting at another table eating from an enormous pile of plates. I thought at first she was carving or doing something of that kind, but as the meal progressed and the pile became no less I made inquiry and found out that she was extremely nearsighted, and the pile of plates-exactly 19 in numberwas necessary to raise her food to a point where it would come within her range of vision. She was no less a personage than the Duchess of Sleswick-Holstein.

In Italy they do not use glass in the windows on account of the expense and replace it with wood or other material. In order to relieve the monotony, I suppose, they have a habit of painting household scenes on these blank spaces. In one window you will see an old chap reading his paper and in another a young miss doing up her hair. There are also other scenes of even more intimate family character, which I will leave to your imagination.

In Athens one day I went out to buy something or other, which, I remember, cost 5 drachmae. For it I tendered a 10 drachma note in payment, and in order to make change the storekeeper tore it neatly in two and returned one-half to me. Convenient, wasn't it? -New York Tribune.

Showed Her Teeth.

One of the last things people like to admit usually is that their teeth are not their own in the sense of not having grown in their mouths. A single member from a porcelain factory is not try is so proud. Then I pointed my objectionable. The need of it might be caused by an accident or for a good many reasons, but when it comes to several and a plate, then the subject becomes a delicate one.

But there was a woman in the street cars the other day who apparently had a brand new set of teeth and she was strangely proud of them. She first attracted the attention of passengers by the smiles that she lavished upon them indiscriminately. Every smile brought the new teeth into view more prominently and the evidence that they were false and the people began to smile quietly themselves. But even then the woman was not sure that her new treasures were properly observed. and, drawing in her lower lip, she brought her upper teeth down upon it and tapped them carelessly with her finger, looking off into vacancy meanwhile with a conscious air of unconsciousness .- New York Times.

Cured the Curious Youth.

"Pawing over the unclaimed mail is a favorite amusement among a certain set of idle youths," said a hotel clerk yesterday. "'Any letters for So-andso?' they will ask, giving an imaginary name, their object being apparently to gratify idle curiosity by studying the superscriptions and reading the postals: Last fall an idiot of that type received a severe lesson here in this house. He made the usual request, giving rather a peculiar name, which he afterward admitted he had thought of on the spur of the moment. By a remarkable coincidence two central office detectives were standing near the desk at the time, and the name he gave was that of a noted crook who was wanted by the police of Chicago very badly.

"Without a word more than was necessary they took the young gentleman by the arm and carried him off to police headquarters. He was so astonished that he was unable to make a coherent explanation and really presented a picture of guilt. His story at headquarters that he had asked for letters under an assumed name was regarded as so improbable that they held him until telegraphic inquiries could be made. Of course it turned out that he was not the Chicago crook, but he got the scare of his life, and you may rest assured that he has dropped that form of amusement from his indulgences."-New York News.

He Wasn't "Soaked."

"When I go over to the old country I am going to get a lot of clothes to bring back with me," said a well known Windsorite, who went abroad recently.

"Oh," said his hearer, "if that is the case, I have a brother who is a tailor in London, and I will give you a letter of introduction and write him telling him to use you right."

In course of time the traveler stepped into the tailor shop in London and presented bis letter of introduction. He got a warm handshake from the tailor, who said he had received a letter from his brother telling of the traveler's expected arrival, but could not understand part of the letter. The letter, when produced, read:

"Dear Brother-The bearer, Mr. is from our place and wishes to get a lot of clothes in London. He has all sorts of money. Soak him. Yours affectionately.

The part of the letter that could not be understood was the concluding phrase. The traveler of course understood the Americanism, but managed to keep his face straight while he gave it a favorable construction. He saved the laugh until he could have it on his American friend. - Chicago Inter

His Plea For Water.

"If there is anything I dislike," remarked Colonel Stilwell, wiping his mustache with impressive deliberation, "it is a bigoted person. Some of the people at my home in Kentucky came very near taking permanent offense at me, but I held out and finally convinced them."

"What was the discussion about?"

"It was the old controversy. Somebody mentioned water, and Judge Morgan stated his opinion that it was something that ought to be abolished. The major argued for its use in moderation, but the judge wouldn't have it I was sorry to disagree with the judge, but I stated my arguments and clinched them so that he had to give in. I called his attention to the greatachievements which all the world is now en gaged in applauding. I recalled to his mind the glories of our naval heroes, the men who are so proud of their country, the men of whom their counfinger at the judge and asked him how those naval heroes could have done these glorious deeds if there hadn't been plenty of water for them to sail their ships on."-Washington Star.

Trains, Worry, Disease and Death.

Late trains are a source of annoyance to everybody. The British Medical Journal dwells upon the very serious result produced by them upon the health of travelers. The rush to the station to catch the train which may perchance be punctual; the weary wait on drafty platforms or in stuffy waiting rooms; the dilatory journey-all these, we are told, add seriously to the labor of the day even in the best of times, but when the weather is cold and damp they are still more injurious and in that they are largely responsible for those "colds," as they are called, those conditions of depressed vitality which are the starting points of most of the acute diseases from which men suffer and from which the elderly and the feeble die.

Genuine Courtesy.

Surface manners are like cut flowers stuck in a shallow glass with just enough water to keep them fresh an hour or so; but the courtesy that has its growth in the heart is like the rosebush in the garden that no inclement season can kill and no dark day force to forego the unfolding of a bud.

Not Entirely One.

Latter, When Dangerously Ills, Confessed They Murdered the Former's Wife.

Napoleon, O., Nov. 23.—Frederick Klinter and his son Henry, farmers near here, were arrested charged with the murder of Mrs. Frederick Klinter, the father' second wife, in 1894. At the time the woman's body was found in the garden near her home with her throat cut and a knife wound near her heart. Suicide was advanced. The weapon was found tightly clasped in her fingers. His son was by his first wife.

About two months ago Henry Klinter, while dangerously ill, confessed that Frederick Klinter felled his wife with a club and the son cut her throat. They then changed their clothing and attended a party. The confession had been kept quiet. The murder was unprovoked.

DEWEY HURT BY CRITICISM

Said He Felt Like Going on the Retired List and Leaving the Country.

Washtngton, Nov. 23.—The deed conveying the home presented by the people to Admiral Dewey from Mrs. Mildred McLean Dewey to George Goodwin Dewey, the admiral's only son, was placed on record here. The admiral and wife retain a life interest.

In an interview Admiral Dewey expressed surprise at the criticism of his action in transferring to his wife the home presented to him by the people. He further said in part:

"Where I was a hero two mouths ago I am now reduced to such a position that certain people cannot say things too villainous, too scurrilous "When I made it over to my wife, I thought I was doing the most gracious act that an American gentleman could do. It seems that I was mistaken. Mrs. Dewey understood better than I did the feeling of the people, and at first declined to permit the house to be The funeral of the child of Mr. and transferred to her. She did consent effected whereby not only the house which was the gift to me of the American people, but her entire personal fortune, which is considerable, was to ultimately go to my son George.

"As for conveying it to my wife to avoid payment of any debts or obligations, I can only say that I have never had any debts.

"I do not intend to arraign the entire American people for the acts of a few. But I am hurt. I am cut to the quick. I never have telt so badly in all my life. I want the Americans to know it. want them to know that if I could I would return to the contributors to the fund the house purchased with their money. I would never in the world have accepted it had I known what it would cost me. If I should continue to feel as I do now, I would cut it ail, throw up everything, go on the retired list and go ubroad. In fact, I feel so discouragedso worn out-that I scarcely know what I will do. I hardly feel like living in a country where I can be attacked in so outrageous a manner without being defended by anyone.

"The American people are not through with me yet. When the American people wanted me to command a fleet and to sail into Manila harbor, I did my dnty as I saw it, and as I believe a sailor should. And if they want me now, or, at some future time, to command another fleet, my life and sword are always at the disposal of my coan-

try. John R. McLean, brother of Mrs. Dewey, said in part: "It was simply an acc of courtesy which the admiral thought might be agreeable to Mrs. Dewey, and which would delight both him and his son. The criticisms of Admiral Dewey have been inspired by certain persons, who, for well understood reasons, have little love for the admiral. It is an insidious attack upon a representative American by hidden political foes. I believe that the fight which has started so insidiously will soon become open, and I have no doubt that the American people, who always love fair play, will resent these unjust and injurious attacks upon Admiral Dewey's character in a way that will not soon be

LIKES THE HOLLAND BOAT.

British Attache Will Recommend Her to His Government.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Captain Charles L. Ottley, R. N., naval attache to her British majesty's embassy to the United States, inspected the Holland submarine torpedoboat in behalf of his government. He said in part:

"It is my intention to recommend to the board of admiralty of the British ances for years." government that they immediately consider the merits of the Holland with the lafter thought, "Besides, you know, view of the adoption of vessels of her type into the British navy. She is to my mind the most formidable type of submarine boat, and has demonstrated that she is the only successful one.

The final preparations for the depart ure of the Holland for Washington have been completed. The vessel will leave her present moorings on Saturday and go to Elizabethport, where the pontoons which are to take her through the canal are to be fitted.
